DEMOCRATIC EXTRAVAGANCE.

A fair sample of democratic extravavagance was displayed last week by George Bower, jury commissioner. The board, for filling the jury wheel, was organized on Thursday, December 4th. Of course the jury commissioners, Samuel Aley, of Marion township, the republican commissioner, and George Bower, of Haines, the democratic commissioner, did not want to stay in Bellefonte over Sunday, hence they quit work on Saturday noon, drew pay for three days and mileage for one trip and went home. On Monday morning, the 8th, they returned and it took them until Friday noon to fill the wheel. Then there was the jury for the January court to draw but the Sheriff was out of town and would not be home until late at night and the law requires that he be present and assist in the drawing of a jury. Mr. Bower and Mr. Aley both went home on Friday afternoon and back on Saturday morning. It took them about one hour and a half on Saturday to draw the jury, but of course the law allowed them a day's pay for doing so.

But here's where the robbery comes in. When they come to collect their pay they charged mileage for two round trips to Bellefonte and return last week, when the law specifies that only one trip a week shall be charged, and further when there was no call for them to go home on Friday only that by so doing a night's lodging in Bellefonte was save to them. When informed that the bill was not lawful Mr. Aley was willing to drop the one mileage trip if Mr. Bower would, but the latter in very emphatic language declared he would do no such thing. This is a sample of democratic extravagance. It took the board just about twice as long to fill the wheel as it should have done. Eight days at $2.50 per day to put 650 names in the jury wheel must be awfully hard (?) work, especially when they have a clerk to do all the writing. But this is only a forerunner of what may be expected during the next three years. The DAILY NEWS predicts that an increase in tax rate inside of a twelvemonth, and just mark the prediction.

A Democrat Clean Through.

It has frequently been remarked by court, jury and the public that during the past few years there has been a great increase in the number of petty assault and battery cases brought into court. Of course it has always been presumed that they were brought by the injured parties that they may obtain just redress for unjust wrongs, but the other day the writer overheard something that may be an eye-opener into this business. It was nothing more nor less than the district attorney urging a criminal prosecution, for an offense hardly worth mentioning on the grounds that it was to his interest. Now the question arises, has he been doing this all along? Is this the reason there are so many petty criminal cases brought into court? Does the district attorney, for the sake of getting his fee as allowed by law, urge that cases be brought into court and thus put hundreds of dollars of cost upon the county that is needless and otherwise would not have been? This is a question that would bear investigation. Mr. Meyer is a good enough district attorney but he possesses that leading characteristic of a good many democrats- extravagance with the people's money.

WHILE Captain Skinner has concluded to withdraw from any contest for the seat of Congressmen Atkinson, in the Eighteenth District, Mortimer F. Elliot has rather unexpectedly given notice that he shall contest the election of Albert C. Hopkins, in the sixteenth. This will make three contests from this state. All that is wanted is fair play. Elections in Pennsylvania are not conducted as they are in the South, where a large proportion of the voting popuation dg not go to the polls at all. The Republicans are not permitted to vote in the South and many districts are fraudulently represented in Congress. In Pennsylvania every man legally qualified votes freely regardless of his politics, and while it may be possible for a blindly partisan committee to rake up technicalities upon which to throw out Republicans, we have no fear that any intentional fraud will be shown.

THE Senate has agreed to appoint a committee to inquire into the advisability of establishing Postal Savings Banks. They would be a convenience, but one may suspect that the advantages of them have been overestimated, or they would have been in operation befor

The Financial Situation.

Accounts from Washington show that much attention is given by members of the Senate and House, as well as in Administration circles, to the financial problem. There are numerous schemes ready to be laid before committees, or pressed upon the attention of Congress and the country, the variety and character of which furnish inherent evidence of their unfitness. They cannot be all right, and most of them aim in the wrong direction. There is nothing more difficult in the domain of legislation than modifying or changing the laws regulating the currency and the banking system. To hit upon legislation that would guard against panics or periods of depression would be little less wonderful than the discovery of means whereby the convulsions of nature could be prevented.

It is fortunate that the worst seems to be over for the present. Any legislation attempted in the midst of a financial crisis would be almost certain to be productive of more harm than good. Temporary relief might be furnished, but the period of disaster would only be postponed, and would be all the more severe when it came. Men of the largest experience and ripest judgment in fiscal affairs concur in the opinion that it is not so much a question of more currency as of greater confidence in the use of what we have. Something may be done to stimulate credit and thus bring from their hiding places the millions which have been withdrawn from the channels of trade. That is all that is needed just now. There is more danger that Congress will do too much than too little. The stringency which now seems to be materially abating, however disastrously it may have affected individuals, will have a most beneficial effect upon the general business of the country. There are present all the elements of continued prosperity, save and except the confidence necessary to make those elements available.

THE TELEPHONE.

It Has Become a Monopoly that Shoud be Put Down.

All the newspaper jokes and criticisms on the wonderful monopoly of the Bell telephone are as nothing to the real and true situation. Talk about railroads, express companies, telegraph, etc, they are as nothing compared with the telephone. And they are not yet satisfied. It has been but a month or so since the charge on all messages, outside the radius of twenty-five miles, was raised from 25 to 40 cents, and only a five minute talk allowed. A few weeks later and a rule was established that any person calling for another outside his own and in another district, whether the said person answered or not, was charged one message; and if it took over five minutes to get the man called to the place the price of two messages was charged. This, at the time was considered extortion in the fullest sense and it was supposed the company had then reached the limit of its flagrant charges, but it seems it hadn't.

Now they have raised the price of all instruments from $4 per month to $5 per month, but, in consideration of the payment of some 'on or before the 15th of each month a reduction of $1 will be made'. Thus they compel cash in advance payments for all instruments or else compel the payment of 25 per cent interest on money that isn't yet earned. Will the public stand such extortion? The telephone is a convenience but at such outrageous charges is it a necessity?

Will business men suffer the Central Pennsylvania Telephone company to make their own prices for for a public service and enrich the stockholders by a prompt payment thereof? In this instance there is certainly food for reflection.

THE charges against the young Reformed Presbyterian ministers were sustained, as expected, and there are just so many more young men free to declare that conscience is greater than the laws of denomination, and that it may not be a sin for a Christian man to vote for a Christian man.

SENATOR HAMPTON was defeated in South Carolina, but he has the satisfaction of knowing that his little band of followers stuck to him to the end. He is the first noted victim of the wrathful Alliance.

SITTING BULL can be arrested any day, but will not be, as it is no longer in his power to do any harm. It might be in his power to do some good if he were given a ball and chain and set to work on the Dakota roads.

REFORM IN DELEGATE ELECTIONS.

The Central Republican Club of Pottsville, the leading and most effective political organization in Schuylkill County, on Tuesday night adjusted a resolution as follows :—

That this club earnestly called for the adoption of the plan proposed by the Philadelphia Press for uniform primaries, so that upon the same day, not more than thirty days before the State Convention meets, the Republicans in all the Counties in the State shall elect their representatives to the State Convention.

In giving reasons for this action the club takes the ground that it is necessary to enlist the interest of the great mass of voters in the primary elections and conventions, and to have their obvious and clearly expressed wishes reflected in the platforms and candidates.

This is a worthy and important purpose which should inspire action in a similar direction throughout the State. The sentiment held by the Pottsville club has already resulted in changing the time of electing delegates in Schuylkill County.

For a long time The Press has persistently advocated the choice of delegates to the State Convention on one day in all the counties. It is practicable, and its advantages are apparent. A convention which is largely made up of delegates chosen many months in advance, before the people have had any occasion or reason to give thoughts to the candidates for issues involved, does not represent the popular sentiment. Such a convention, as has been shown too often, is very certain to be the creature of political manipulators, who are always at work, and who prefer to have delegates chosen at a time when the active interest of the people has not yet been aroused.

This was one of the sources of discontent and trouble in the late campaign, and if the Republican party is to win success in the future it must be removed. We may justly criticise those who do not support the candidates of the party, but whether we regard their reasons as sufficient or in-sufficient we must recognize the condition. If all the delegates to the last Republican State Convention had been elected within sixty days of the meeting of that body, the Republican nominee for Governor would have been elected by a larger majority than has ever been given a candidate for Governor in Pennsylvania. The free choice of the people will always command popular confidence and popular support.

The manipulation of the delegate elections in one county after another by the chairman of the State committe was a cause of much dissatisfaction. It was undertaken for the first time in the late candidates for the Gubernatorial nomination and was most vigorously criticised by the most earnest and unyielding Republicans. A repetition of it at any time in the future should prove far more serious in its results and the temptation which the present system offers to a chairman who has not a fine sense of his obligation to the whole party ought to be removed. The adoption of a uniform day for the election of delegates would remove that temptation, and put into the hands of the people the choice of delegates, not too largely controllable through the party machinery.

It is understood to be the purpose of the Pottsville club to bring this question before the State League. If its efforts are attended with the success which they deserve it cannot be long before we shall have this very desirable reform. The progress which it is making with Republican people is certainly very gratifying.—Press,

CLEARFIELD'S BANK CLOSED.

An Assignment Made This morning for $190,000—Wallace and Kreps the Main Stockholders.

A special dispatch on Tuesday from Clearfield states that the Clearfield Bank, with Senator Wallace and Judge Kreps as the leading stockholders, made an assignment that morning for $190,000. No further particulars were obtainable. This will be another blow in the financial world and will cause quite a sensation as both men were always supposed to be wealthy, and Senator Wallace especially so. It has been said that the latter would be responsible, in part at least, for the $12,000 of wages due the employees of the Centre Iron Company, in this place, but that amount, it was not thought would embarrass a man like Wallace, and it probably did not. The assignment is most likely due to other causes.

KENNARD WON THE FIGHT.

He Knocked Billy Murray Completely Out in the Thirteenth Round.

STAMFORD, Conn., Dec. 17.—The much talked of prize fight between Jimmie Kennard, of St. Paul, and Billy Murray, of New York, 110 pound men, took place early Tuesday morning near this city, and was witnessed by 300 sports from New York and vicinity. The fight was for $1,000 a side. The men were in perfect condition. Kennard was handled by Joe McAuliffe, and Joseph Quinn did the honors for Murray. Frank Stevenson acted as referee.

Kennard began the fighting, Murray acting on the defensive, but to the eighth round very little execution was done. The eighth, however, was a rattler. It was give and take all through. Murray had a shade the best of the round. After this there was a lull until the twelfth round, when there was another rattling set-to. Kennard had much the best of this round. He landed heavily on Murray's stomach and face time and again, and had Murray groggy before the call of time. Murray planted many blows in Kennard's face during this round, but they lacked force.

Both men were comparatively fresh when time was called for the thirteenth round. Kennard began rushing matters and put in some heavy blows. He soon had his man dazed, and before the round was half over he got in a stinger on Murray's jaw, completely knocking him out. About $3,000 changed hands.

Boy and Dog Cut Apart.

NEW YORK, Dec. 17.—The first official announcement that the final operation in the bone grafting experiment on Johnnie Gethins and his pet spaniel Yip was made by Dr. Newman to a reporter Tuesday morning. Dr. Newman could not be induced to say exactly when the dog and boy were cut apart, and indeed his admission that the separation had actually taken place was obtained with considerable difficulty. Dr. Newman scouted the idea that Johnnie's leg was shorter now than before the operation, and said that while the original idea was to obtain bone union the inserting of the graft had necessarily lengthened the leg. He would not, however, say whether Johnnie's leg would now be longer or as long as it would have been had he not been born a cripple, nor would he say whether or not the operation was a complete and unqualified success.

One Dead and the Other Delirious.

CHARLOTTETOWN, P. E. I., Dec. 17.—An aged couple named Higgins left here in a team, during a violent snow storm, for their home about three miles from here. When within a half mile of their residence they drove into a snow bank, and becoming stupefied with the intense cold were unable to extricate themselves. They were missed and found by a search party. Mrs. Higgins had her legs frozen solidly up to the knee, and she died shortly after being discovered. Higgins' hands and feet were frozen and have been amputated. He is delirious and unable to tell the story of his sufferings.

They May Come to Blows.

FINDLAY, O., Dec. 17.—There is likely to be a bloody conflict in this city between the city gas trustees, backed by the police force, and the employes of the Briggs Rolling mill over an attempt to disconnect natural gas from that establishment. The rolling mill people have refused to pay the advanced rate charged by the city to manufacturers, and with armed men have thus far prevented the trustees from shutting off the gas. The police have been ordered to the assistance of the gas officials, and a collision can hardly be averted. Excitement is intense throughout the city.

Struck by a Train.

COHASSET, Mass., Dec. 17.—Martin Nichols, aged 45, was struck and instantly killed by a train at Stetson crossing, on the Old Colony railroad, while driving a two horse cart over the track. The cart was smashed to pieces, and both horses escaped uninjured.

Killed by a Blow.

CHARLOTTE, N.C., Dec. 17.—J. P. Andrey and Tom Morrison, while trying to reach a settlement in regard to last year's crop, became engaged in a fight. Andrey picked up a stick and dealt Morrison a blow on the head which caused death instantly.

THE SIGNAL HAS BLAZED

It Means the Hostiles Will Take the Warpath Within One Sun.

A FIGHT IS NOW INEVITABLE

That Is the General Opinion About the Pine Ridge Agency—Kicking Bear Has Not Been Captured, and He and Short Bull Are Fomenting Trouble.

PINE RIDGE AGENCY, S. D., via Rushville, Dec. 16.—About 9 o'clock last night a great light suddenly blazed up in the northwest in the direction of the Bad Lands. The light faded to a sullen glow and then rapidly spread along the sky for a distance of a couple of miles. Men posted in Indian signals in the camp said this meant that the Indians in the Bad Lands had determined to fight.

It is thought that the conflict between the Indians and cowboys on Battle creek, in which three of the former were killed, has inflamed the Indians. The Indians in the camp of the friendlies, on being asked what the signal meant, declined at first to talk, but being pressed finally said it meant that their brothers in the Bad Lands would be on the warpath within one sun, and that all Indians who did not join them would be dogs and enemies forever.

The friendlies, however, disclaim any intention of obeying the signal. The guards here will be doubled nevertheless, and the friendly camp kept under the closest surveillance. The Sixth, Seventh and Eighth cavalry and 300 state militia are under marching orders, and will start for the Bad Lands at night or in the morning. It is the general opinion here that a fight with the hostiles is now inevitable.

Kicking Bear Has Not Been Captured.

RAPID CITY, S. D., Dec. 16.—A battery of Hotchkiss guns was sent yesterday from Fort Meade to this place to re-enforce Gen. Carr's command at the mouth of Rapid creek. A number of straggling parties of Indians have been seen going north. They are under the command of Short Bull and Kicking Bear, who has not been captured as heretofore reported, and say they will not surrender. Short Bull is one of the worst Indians on this reservation.

It was he who murdered Agent Appleton in cold blood at Pine Ridge. It is expected that the main body of the hostiles will attempt to follow him. Gen. Carr has orders to intercept and disarm these Indians at all hazards, and it is expected a collision will occur to-morrow in the vicinity of the mouth of Spring creek or Rapid creek. Dr. McGillicuddy, surgeon general of the South Dakota militia, has been ordered to join Col. Day's command at the front. Several old fighters have volunteered as guides and scouts. A company of Sioux and Crow scouts from the north are on the way to join Gen. Carr. A special from Pine Ridge says part of the Seventh cavalry has orders to march at midnight.

Fears the Scale Has Turned.

CHICAGO, Dec. 16.—A dispatch received at army headquarters yesterday from Battle Creek, S. D., stated that a letter had just been received by a courier from Capt. Wells, at the mouth of French Creek, stating that a fight had occurred there Dec. 12 between twenty citizens and a roaming band of Sioux. Five Indians were reported killed, but the loss of whites was not given.

A dispatch from Gen. Brooke said that reports received by him on the night of the 13th showed a decidedly hostile intent on the part of the Indians in the Bad Lands. He feared that the collision between some citizens and the Indians had turned the scale.

Information from Fort Bennet goes to show that the Indians at Cherry Creek agency are greatly excited, and that under the leadership of Big Foot they are keeping up the ghost dance. The Indians' excitement is increased by the report that bands of Sioux from Rosebud and Pine Ridge are moving in the direction of Cherry Creek.

Col. Corbin said last night that it was not known whether the fight referred to by Gen. Brooke was the one that occurred at French Creek.

"If not," continued the colonel, "there have been two rows, and of the one referred to by Gen. Brooke we know nothing as yet. It is to be feared now that blood has been shed, and that there will be more trouble, for if an Indian knows that some of his tribe have been hurt he will forego his peaceful intentions. Two Strike was on his way into Pine Ridge, and it is to be hoped that he wont turn back when he hears of the French creek affair. In all probability Kicking Bear and Short Bull are the instigators of such trouble as has occurred."

Rev. Dr. Nave's Views.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16.—Rev. O. J. Nave, an army chaplain, who has spent eight years among the Indians, made an interesting address last night at McKendric M. E. church on the Indians and the relations of the government toward them. Dr. Nave said he was not in harmony with the general course of the government toward the Indians. He thought we were wrong from the first. The government's administration of the Indian had, he said, been mismanaged. He disagreed with the belief that the Indians were savages. The American people had made some of them savage. Promises had been broken so often that the Indians had at last lost confidence in the white people, said Dr. Nave.

Dr. Nave contended that the government had no right to forbid the ghost dance. "If it were a war dance," he said, "calculated to inflame the Indian, there would be some reason for this. But the dance is only a religious ceremony. The Sioux, catching the doctrine of our Christianity, look for a deliverer. They were called upon by Short Bull's harangue or sermon to appear at Post creek naked—men naked and women naked. They were to carry absolutely nothing with them. Does that look dangerous? Does that look as though it was intended as a hostile demonstration?"

In conclusion Dr. Nave said that lawless characters among the Indians were no more common than among the whites.

A GIGANTIC EMBEZZLEMENT.

CHICAGO, Dec. 13.—Curtis G. Stoddart, an American banker, who resides in London and a member of the banking firm of C. G. Stoddart & Co., of New York and Canada, has been arrested here charged with embezzling $2,200,000 of stock and $4,000,000 of bonds of the Kansas City, Arkansas and New Orleans railroad. He is also accused of irregular conduct in defrauding the Chicago and Arkansas Construction company, which had the contract to build the railroad projected to run from Beebe, Ark., to Monroe, Ala.

Mr. Stoddart, who was seen at the Richelieu after giving bail, said that F. C. Rutan, of this city, president of the Construction company, induced him to attempt to float the bonds. He had underwritten $1,000,000 just as the Park National bank, of this city, failed, of which he was not informed till a week later. He expected to send the $1,000,000 to President Parker, of that bank, who was treasurer of the railroad company.

Mr. Stoddart came to America and claims to have found the Construction company irregular. Visiting Arkansas, the railroad company was reorganized, the old issue of bonds declared void, and Mr. Stoddart was elected president and treasurer. He arranged for taking the contract which the Construction company had procured. Mr. Stoddart offers to give up the bonds and stock when paid $160,000 for his advances and obligation incurred as special agent of the Construction company

He Was Watching the Ventilator.

BOSTON, Dec. 16.—The guards on the state prison walls at Charlestown reported that John Farmer, a recently liberated convict, was hanging around outside watching the ventilator on the prison roof. This aroused suspicion, and a search was made which revealed that the iron padlock on a door leading to the attic over the chapel had been sawed off. In the attic was found John Curtain, who is serving a twelve years' sentence for manslaughter, twisting yarn into a rope. He had 100 feet of rope and two suits of clothes. It was learned that Edward Oldham, who has served three years of a ten years' sentence, was in the plot. The prison choir were there singing at the time, and it is supposed that all intended to escape from the roof by means of the rope.

Preparations were being made to celebrate his fiftieth year in office in 1892. He is known in every lodge in the country.

THE VATICAN LOOKS ON.

It Is Watching the Irish Crisis with Intense Interest.

TWO UNITED IRELANDS OUT.

Parnell's Edition Comes Out at the Regular Office and the Opposition Edition Issues from The Nation Office. Parnell's Defense of the Seizure.

ROME, Dec. 13.—There is the highest authority for saying that the present crisis in the Irish party is being watched with the utmost interest at the Vatican. A prelate well acquainted with the views entertained by his holiness the pope said today that the example of the Irish bishops in refusing to obey the rescript on boycotting and the plan of campaign would prove an unanswerable argument for those of the members of their respective sees who desired to disregard their wishes with regard to the Irish leadership.

While the rescript only referred to a question of morals, the present manifesto of the Irish bishops relates to politics pure and simple, on which, as ecclesiastics, they had no authority to speak, and cannot be expected to be supported by the Vatican. It is therefore expected here that the outgiving of the bishops will only tend to intensify the present divisions among the Irish people.

The Clergy in Politics.

As between the Vatican and the Irish hierarchy the fact is recalled with no little satifaction that in the past the Irish bishops have never taken the responsibility of separating themselves from his holiness without having to pay the penalty for their disobedience.

Thus it may fairly be inferred that no tears will be shed at the Vatican if Irish Catholics refuse to obey the manifesto, as it is here looked upon simply as an effort on the part of the Irish hierarchy to meddle in politics, the question whether Mr. Parnell or Messrs. Dillon, O'Brien or McCarthy shall in future direct the operations of the Nationalists being regarded as purely a question of partisan interest.

While the Catholic church, through its representatives, is not expected to uphold the cause of the morally impure, the point made at the Vatican is that in the present case the bishops had not the slightest excuse for meddling in the controversy, or for taking cognizance of the matter in any form.

Two Editions of United Ireland.

DUBLIN, Dec. 13.—Two editions of United Ireland claim public patronage, one printed at the offices of the paper on Abbey street under the protection of a strong guard, the other having been brought out at The Dublin Nation establishment. The latter is an alleged copy of the number destroyed by Mr. Parnell and his followers, and bears in large letters the word "suppressed."

In the regular issue is printed the legal opinion under which Mr. Parnell claims to have acted, to which is added the statement by the Irish leader that he dismissed the acting editor for producing a paper scandalously partisan in its treatment of him, and because he was engaged surreptitiously preparing an unusually objectionable edition to be issued a day earlier than usual.

Mr. Parnell goes on to say that it was preposterous to suppose that a mere subordinate could have acted in so treacherous a manner on his own responsibility, and that it is most probable that he was wirepulled by some person or persons outside the office.

Several thousand copies of the "suppressed" edition of United Ireland were seized this morning at the Kingsbridge station, just outside the city, while they were being dispatched to Cork, and thrown into the Liffey. The seizure was made by the adherents of Parnell.

To Be a Dead Letter.

LONDON, Dec. 13.—The refusal of Bishop Brownrigg, of Ossory, to instruct the people of Kilkenny how to vote in the coming parliamentary election there is taken by the Parnellites as an indication that the manifesto of the higher prelates is to be allowed to become a dead letter.

The adherents of Mr. Parnell believe that the manifesto did not represent the personal feelings of the signers, but was a mere formal declaration made to satisfy the Church rulers. It is pointed out that though the higher clergy also condemned the Land league and several subsequent Irish popular movements in formal terms, yet this action did not prevent the lesser clergy and many of the higher from lending their countenance to those movements.

A similar result of the present attitude of the clerical body is looked for, with, of course, the difference that the priests will follow their various personal preferences as to the factions, and remain neutral as to their official action.

Healy's Escapade.

Much amusement has been caused in Tory circles in London by Mr. Healy's appeal to the Dublin police for protection from the mob.

The "minions of Balfour," whom the impulsive Irish member had so often denounced in unmeasured terms, responded to his call for help just in time, it is said, to save him from personal harm at the hands of his own countrymen. His principal assailant was promptly arrested, while the police dragged Mr. Healy by main force out of the melee to a place of safety.

Apropos of Mr. Parnell's sneers in his speeches in Ireland in reference to the National Liberal club, it is recalled by members of that organization that several of his supporters are still in the club, and after the recent meetings of the contending Nationalists these gentlemen, especially Michael Conway, John O'Connor and Joseph Nolan, were accustomed to go to the club and indulge in denunciation of Mr. Gladstone, a thing very offensive to their English fellow members.

The Pall Mall Gazette, in discussing the Irish problem, urges upon Mr. Justin McCarthy and his followers the necessity of their taking their coats off and promptly getting down to the work of systematic and vigorous opposition to Mr. Parnell.

Davitt in Kilkenny.

KILKENNY, Dec. 13.—Mr. Michael Davitt arrived in this city Friday. A great crowd met him at the station. The reception accorded him was of a mixed character, one faction loudly cheering the one armed editor, while the other responded with hisses and groans and counter cheers for Parnell.

COL. IRBY WINS THE FIGHT.

Elected to the United States Senate to Succeed Wade Hampton.

COLUMBIA, S. C., Dec. 13.—Irby has won the fight and will assume Wade Hampton's seat in the United States senate. Irby led from the start, and on the fourth ballot he was elected senator, the vote standing 105 in his favor to 42 for Hampton and 10 for Donaldson. Col. Irby was overjoyed at his victory, and his first act on learning the result was to telegraph to his mother, telling her that he wanted the first congratulatory kiss from her and the next from his wife. Senator-elect Irby says that while he is an Alliance man to the core, yet his first allegiance is to the Democratic party.

Col. John Laurens Manning Irby was born at Laurens, S. C., Sept. 10, 1854. His father was Col. James H. Irby, a distinguished lawyer and politician as well as a large and successful planter. After a course at Princeton college he attended the University of Virginia. He studied law under Associate Justice McIver, of South Carolina, and practiced his profession several years at Laurens, abandoning the law to engage in agriculture. He is now rated one of the most prosperous and progressive farmers in this state. He lives on his model plantation, which is governed and controlled under his personal supervision.

Col. Irby has been a member of the state legislature since 1886, at which time he entered actively into politics, arousing the people from their lethargy to united action for the restoration of the state. He has always been prominent in the Farmers' movement, and was Governor Tillman's closest friend and adviser during the remarkable campaign just ended in this state. When a new state Democratic executive committee was elected by the state convention all eyes were turned toward Col. Irby, and he was unanimously chosen its chairman.

Col. Irby is a man of splendid physique. He has a striking countenance, which combines frankness with determination. He is a manly, handsome man, and is the picture of perfect health. His views are always expressed with the utmost clearness. He is a fearless advocate of the people's rights, is quick of perception and in action prompt and decisive. As the manager of the recent state campaign he saved the Reform Democratic party from untold mistakes, and on the floor of the many conventions which have been held in South Carolina this year his quick brain was the cohesive force which held his men together under the disintegrating influences of eloquence and wire-pulling.

Col. Irby's recent election as speaker of the house of representatives was a distinct evidence of the faith the people have in his ability.

Peck, Martin & Co. Fail.

NEW YORK, Dec. 13.—Peck, Martin & Co. made an assignment to George S. Hamlin, with one preference to W. J. Peck of $13,000. They are dealers in building materials. The liabilities of the firm are about $900,000 and the assets about $400,000. The failure was caused by the firm being unable to realize on debts due them for material furnished. There are also individual assets amounting to $100,000 above the individual liabilities. The $300,000 liabilities are secured by collateral of various kinds, all good, but which cannot immediately be realized on. The recent labor troubles that the firm has had, it was stated, had nothing to do with the failure. The firm has been in business about eight years, and was formerly known as J. S. Peck & Sons.

Thinks Ingalls Will Get There.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Dec. 13.—Governor Humphrey was in the city Friday morning, and was asked what he thought of the political situation in Kansas in relation to the recent landslide in that state. He said: "The Farmers' Alliance appears to have everything its own way as far as the legislature in Kansas is concerned. I expect to see a good deal of good work done this winter by the legislature, and I believe there is considerable misjudging of the Alliance members when radical legislation is spoken of. The members are a level headed lot of men. They will do nothing that will work to the detriment of the state. I think that Senator Ingalls will undoubtedly be re-elected."

Want That Proclamation Issued.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13.—Hon. Thomas W. Palmer, president of the World's fair commission, and Mr. Fred W. Peck, of the local directory, who is also chairman of the finance committee of the directory, arrived in the city. In speaking of their mission Mr. Peck said: "We have come to request President Harrison to issue his formal proclamation notifying the governments of the world that the exposition will be held. We have all the proofs with us to justify him in sending out this proclamation at once, and of course we hope for speedy action on his part."

Searching for Bancroft.

PROVIDENCE, Dec. 13.—The party of Brown students which searched East Providence for the missing Professor J. W. Bancroft came in with nothing new. Later a resident of East Providence came to the college and said he had seen Bancroft Thursday afternoon. A long meeting was held at the college, and Friday morning 120 students, headed by their professors, started in six divisions to search the east shore of the river and adjacent country from East Providence to Barrington.

The Syracuse Journal's Case.

ALBANY, Dec. 13.—Attorney General Tabor has denied the application of H. V. Truar and C. G. Baldwin, as stockholders and creditors of The Syracuse Journal company, for him to bring an action under the civil code for the appointing of a receiver for the company. It was held that the company had been insolvent for a year.

Passed a Worthless Check.

Capt. Drew Dead.

FARMINGTON, Me., Dec. 13.—Capt. John H. Drew, the well known Kennebec correspondent of The Boston Journal, and recently candidate for United States shipping commissioner, died of paralysis.

A RECKLESS DESPERADO

He Deliberately Shoots to Death Three Men and Two Women.

AND THEN KILLS HIMSELF.

One of the Women He Murdered Was His Fiancee, and His Bloody Work Resulted from Her Father's Refusal to Let Them Marry.

FORT SMITH, Dec. 13.—A horrible tragedy, in which six people were killed, occurred near this city last evening. At about 5 o'clock R. G. Caldwell was driving home from this city, and when about four miles out was intercepted by a pedestrian armed with a shotgun, who asked him if either of his mules would "ride." Caldwell told him no. About this time an old man came along riding a pony. The pedestrian ordered him to get off, but he did not comply promptly, and the man shot him twice.

Murder Run Wild.

He then mounted the old man's pony and rode him about three miles, when the animal gave out and he abandoned him. He then caught a young man driving an empty wagon and jumped in it. Taking the whip from the driver he ran the mules to Jenny Lind, a distance of three or four miles. Arriving there he went to the store of D. R. Stewart, entered and shot Stewart down. From Stewart's he went to the house of John Miller, a quarter of a mile distant, and finding Miller some distance from the house he shot and mortally wounded him. He then proceeded to the house and shot Mrs. Miller, and then killed Miller's daughter, after which he blew his own brains out just as a posse of men who had been summoned came up to him.

Cause of the Tragedy.

Miller is dead, and it is certain that Mrs. Miller cannot recover. While in the wagon with the young man he told him his name was Bill Joplin. Joplin has been at work at Jenny Lind, where he fell in love with Miss Miller, whom he murdered. He was in the city the day before with the girl for the purpose of marrying her, but her father followed and prevented the ceremony, taking his daughter home with him. Joplin followed them later, and thinking Dr. Stewart had something to do with breaking up the match killed him. The old man he killed on the prairie turned out to be A. L. Dull, of Hutchinson, Kan. He told the young man while riding with him that he was sorry he killed the old man, but that he ought to have got off the pony quicker.

A Husband's Fearful Act.

PARIS, Dec. 13.—A workman named Lacassin, who had quarreled with his wife because of the refusal of the woman to live with him, met her on the street this morning. After a vain attempt to induce his wife to return to him Lacassin became violently enraged, and drawing a revolver fired four shots at the unfortunate woman, who at once fell to the sidewalk. Then, as his victim lay helpless at his feet, the murderer drew a knife and ripped open the woman's abdomen. He afterward attempted to commit suicide, but was prevented by the arrival of the gendarmes, who placed him under arrest.

Shot His Wife and Killed Himself.

KALAMAZOO, Mich., Dec. 13.—Louis Scott shot his wife in a quarrel and then killed himself. They quarreled some weeks ago and she left him, going to work as a domestic. Yesterday he went to the place where she was working and committed the murderous deed. It is possible that Mrs. Scott may recover.

They Didn't Whip Him.

NEW ALBANY, Ind., Dec. 13.—White Caps visited the house of Thomas Burgess, a farmer, living in Meade county, Ky., to whip him. He shot and killed one of the raiders and wounded two others. With his wife Burgess fled to the woods through a rear door and reached friends in New Amsterdam, Ind.

A Miner Shot Down.

FAIRMOUNT, W. Va., Dec. 13.—At Monongah, W. Va., John Jenks shot and killed J. E. Hall, a miner, who had gone back to work against the will of a majority of his fellow miners, who are out on a strike. The murderer escaped.

An Oleomargarine Muddle.

PITTSBURG, Dec. 13.—Collector Warmcastle seized $10,000 worth of oleomargarine in the wholesale stores of the Western Butter company and the Keystone Butter company. This is but the first of a wholesale seizure, as the companies are accused of scratching the stamps from the oleomargarine kegs and selling to retailers, who dispose of the "butter." The retailers will also be proceeded against. They are in a peculiar position. If they do not buy a United States stamp both the government and state will prosecute them, and if they do the state will sue, as a state license prohibits the selling entirely. A score of prominent firms are involved.

Says a Poor Man's Panic Is Coming.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13.—Isador Strauss, of New York, in an interview published here, predicts a poor man's panic. So far, he said, we have had a rich man's panic, induced largely by speculative efforts to depress securities. "Before the situation is relieved," said Mr. Strauss, "the masses are bound to suffer. I expect to see factories shut down or run on short time, wages lowered and a general era of hard times."

A woman who claims to be the widow of Loring A. Robertson, a Brooklyn millionaire, appears as a claimant for his estate. Robertson was supposed to have lived and died a bachelor.

The five young ministers of the Reformed Presbyterian church at Pittsburg who have been on trial for acting contrary to the church's discipline in that they believed in taking part in civil elections, were convicted of being guilty of a heinous offense, and were suspended from the ministry. The young men will appeal to the synod.

The five anti-Parnellite envoys in New York issued a manifesto in which they insist that the only salvation for the cause of home rule is the retirement of Mr. Parnell, the unification of the Nationalist party, and a friendly alliance with Gladstone and the Liberals.

PEACE AND WAR INDIANS FIGHT.

A Bloody Battle in Which About Fifty Redskins Are Killed.

PINE RIDGE AGENCY, S. D., Dec. 13.—A serious conflict between the peace and war factions of Two Strike's band has taken place. Yankton Charlie, a full blooded Sioux and government scout, has come in from the Indian camp in the Bad Lands, and reports a bloody fight among the followers of the Indian chiefs Short Bull and Two Strike. Each claimed the leadership and each tried to secure it by force.

The result is about fifty dead Indians. This report is verified by several friendlies who have been waiting for some time to escape to the agency. As the spies took advantage of the fight to make their escape, it is not known yet which chief conquered.

Large re-enforcements have come in from Standing Rock and other agencies. The depredations of the Indians have been extended to the foot of the Black Hills. The Flying Bell herd, owned in the hills, has been captured. It is useless to talk of peace. There has been no attempt made on the part of the hostiles to move out of their intrenchments since the peace council was held. None of the promises have been kept.

It is said that when the chiefs returned from the agency a council was held. Two Strike and his followers favored peace, but Kicking Bear, Short Bull and other chiefs, composing the majority of the camp, took decided ground on the other side. The council lasted several hours, during which the excitement reached its highest pitch, and finally broke up in a fight. The troops have received orders to be in readiness by to-morrow to march to the Bad Lands.

Trouble Anticipated.

ARKANSAS CITY, Kan., Dec. 13.—It has been discovered that a large number of cattle driven off the Cherokee Outlet are now in the Osage and Kiowa reservations. This is directly opposed to Secretary Noble's order, but the Indians have divided the cattle among individuals and intend to fill their contract with the cattle men. One troop of cavalry was sent to see that the cattle were driven off the reservations, but the Indians paid no attention to the soldiers. Three more troops left Camp Merritt yesterday. Trouble is anticipated.

WASHINGTON NEWS.

The Census Committee Fixes the House Representation at 356.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13.—The house committee on the census agreed to report the apportionment bill as indorsed by the Republican members of the committee, fixing the representation in the house at 356. This is the number provided for in the bill introduced some time ago by Mr. Frank, of Missouri, and subsequently reintroduced with amendment by Mr. Dunnell, of Minnesota, the chairman of the census committee.

The committee before agreeing to report the bill discussed it at length. Mr. Holman, of Indiana (Democrat), opposed the representation provided for by the bill. He urged that it should be placed at 332, the membership of the present house. The agreement to report the bill favorably was practically unanimous, Messrs. Tillman, of South Carolina, and Holman reserving the right, however, to vote for amendments providing different apportionments. Mr. Tillman favors a representation of 500 or 600 members.

The Financial Situation.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13.—Representative Dorsey, of Nebraska, the chairman of the house committee on banking and currency, had a talk with Secretary Windom today about the financial situation. Mr. Windom approved of the action of Mr. Dorsey's committee in reporting the bill for the retirement of national bank certificates as a step toward relieving the situation, and recommended more legislation aimed to restore confidence in the money market.

Bordering on Starvation.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 13.—Capt. Healy, of the revenue cutter Bear, recently arrived from Alaska, will forward to Washington a communication with regard to the condition of the Esquimaux in northwestern Alaska. He says they are bordering upon starvation, owing to the scarcity of deer and the entire failure of the hunt during the past autumn. Capt. Healy will propose to the government that he purchase a number of reindeer of both sexes, which abound on the Siberian coast, and transport them on the Bear to some point on the Alaskan coast, where moss and feed are plentiful. He will also advise that the government enlist the services of a number of Siberian natives to instruct the Esquimaux in the art of herding the deer, and as the animals become more numerous they can be distributed over northwestern Alaska and form the food supply for the natives.

Crushed by Falling Walls.

BROOKLYN, Dec. 13.—During the high winds Friday morning a two story and basement brick building which was being erected on Fifth street and Sixth avenue was blown down. Adjoining the building was a one story brick structure, occupied by an Italian shoemaker named Nicolini Delphino and his wife and two children. This small building was crushed in, and the family were buried in the debris. Two officers and a large crowd went to work to rescue the unfortunate people. Delphino and his wife were soon dragged out, cut and bruised, and also one of the children. Rosini, a 13-year old girl, was killed.

The Morocco Workers Threat.

LYNN, Mass., Dec. 13.—The morocco workers have resolved that if the manufacturers do not settle the present labor trouble with their employes before Jan. 1, 1891, they (the employes) will use all their power through the trades unions, Knights of Labor, Farmers' Alliance and kindred organizations and also their committees in Washington to have repealed the tariff of 35 per cent. on French kid imported into this country.

A Town in Flames.

BELLAIRE, O., Dec. 13.—A cooper shop in Benwood, just opposite this city, caught fire, and the flames spread to six dwelling houses, completely destroying everything in their way. The town was at the mercy of the fire until hose companies from this city went over, and others came down from Wheeling. The loss will be very heavy, and the fire is still spreading.

She Wants Her Inheritance.

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 13.—Mrs. Eliza N. Sharp, of Chicago, has brought action in court for the recovery of about $50,000 from the estate of David Taylor, her father. She claims there was an inheritance, of which her father was guardian, left her by her mother in 1840, and which has been kept secret from her.

Important Railroad News.

In the Philadelphia Inquirer of Thursday we find the following:

General George J. Magee, who built the Beech Creek road and has been its general manager from the beginning, has resigned, and J. D. Layng, general manager of the West Shore road has been appointed to succeed him. General Magee's retirement is said to be due to a change in the ownership of the Beech Creek road. The Vanderbilts, who bought up the holdings of the minority stockholders in the road, are understood to have transferred their stock to the New York Central company, and it is desired that the property be brought directly under the management of that corporation. General Magee still retains the Presidency of the Fall brook Coal company, in which the Vanderbilts are largely interested.

The Vanderbilts have purchased about 15000 acres of bituminous coal land on Chest Creek, in the northwest corner of Cambria county, and the Beech Creek road is to be extended thirty miles to reach it. This tract is the only undeveloped coal territory of consequence east of the Allegheny mountains. It will afford a considerable amount of traffic for the railroad, which will turn it over to the Fall Brook company or the Reading. This extension will be made next year.

The purpose of the change in management, however, is believed to be related to the recent acquisition of a charter for a road to connect the Beech Creek with the Lake Shore at Oil City. The construction of ninety miles of track will close the gap and form a new route from Chicago to Philadelphia. For through all rail freight this route would be of great advantage, as it would be 905 miles long, as against 1,028 by the present route via Lyons and the New York Central. Moreover, the Central is already crowded with business and would prefer the Philadelphia business should be done of another line of which it holds all the stock. The Central will not lose any revenue because of a reduction of the distance since the Reading, which is its Philadelphia connection gets an 'arbitrary' for its service and the Central gets all the rest. Of course the Reading's coal business which is done over docks at Buffalo will not be changed. It is reported the Oil City extension will not be finished for two years yet.

Intoxicated by Chewing Gum.

Can a man become intoxicated on chewing gum? I cannot believe it, yet a friend of mine assures me that he knows a fellow who does it. The man in question is the superintendent of one of the big breweries of New York. He does not drink liquor of any kind, not even his own beer. He can tell the quality of the brewing by the color and smell. Once in a while, however, he feels like getting hilarious in some way. The feeling is likely to come upon him on the Fourth of July or some simular occasion of holiday rejoicing.

When he feels that way, so my friend says, and he ought to know, our superintendent buys a large box of some peculiar sort of chewing gum and makes a job of it. He does not attempt to do anything else for the time being. He devotes himself to the chewing gum. One cake of it after another disappears. He chews the sweetness out of the gum and then throws it away. When he has masticated about four or five dozen of the wafers he is the possessor of what the boys call "a beautiful jag." At least so my friend says.

There was a friend of mine once who assured me that he had seen an oyster which had been taught to play the piano. I did not believe him, just because he was my friend. Your own friends will sometimes tell you whopping big yarns. The one who tells me the chewing gum story avers by the Great Horn Spoon that it is positively true. In proof of it he pointed the brewery to me.

—Two weeks ago last Tuesday Newton Graham, of Clearfield, in company with two companions went to the woods to hunt. The three got separated and Graham did not return. He has not yet returned and now the people have become alarmed and 150 armed men are searching the woods to find him.

A Boy's Life Crushed Out.

Johnstown Tribune 15th.

About ten minutes after 2 o'clock this afternoon a boy named Otto Maiser, son of Mr. Henry C. Maiser, was run over by a wagon of Kernville Hill, and received injuries from which he died a short time afterward. The boy's parents live on the Hill, near the school house, at what is known as "Horseshoe Bend." He and another brother had gone up the hill to gather wood, and were on their way home when the accident occurred. The wagon which killed him belongs to Mr. Robert Barkley and was used for hauling brick to the new town of Westmont. It is not known who was the driver nor exactly how the accident happened. The boy was carried into the house of his parents by a strange man—presumably the driver—who said he had been struck by a wagon. He was still alive. Dr. George Wagoner was summoned, and found that his right side was crushed from the shoulder to the hip, his shoulder crushed, and other injuries afflicted. A few minutes after the doctor arrived the boy died. The doctor says it is very evident the boy was run over by the wagon. He was aged about 4 years and 6 months. His father works for Mr. Augustus Brademire, Superintendent of Grand View cemetery.

Remember that the lady teachers of Centre county are ladies of good sense and can easily tell a gentleman when they see one.

Interviewer—Mr. Swelhead, I have come to get your views on the proposed change in the curriculum of the grammar school.

Mr. Swelhead—Curriculum! What's that? I'm agin it, whatever it is.

Mr. Swelhead reading the report of interviewer—"Our distinguished townsman, Mr. M. T. Swelhead, was found at his charming home surrounded by abundant indication of ripe scholarship and sturdy common sense. In reply to our reporter's question he said: 'I do not desire to force my opinions upon the public, but this I will say, that I have given to this question long and studious attention, accidently examining into the curricula of institutions of learning both at home and abrtoad, and although I find in the existing course of study not a few matters for condemnation, still, upon the whole I cannot say that I should advise any radical change until I have further time to examine into the subject." Closing Quotations of the New York Stock Exchange.

NEW YORK, Dec. 12.—Money on call is easy at 4@5 per cent. Exchange steady; posted rates, $4.80@4.84½; actual rates, $4.78@$4.78½ for sixty days and $4.82¾@4.83 for demand. Governments steady; currency, 6s, 109 bid; 4s, coupon, 122 bid; 4½s, do., 103 bid.

The stock market opened this morning with a little scare of the shorts, and under a brisk bidding for stocks the first prices were from ¼ to 1 per cent. better than the final figures of yesterday. The Sugar trust, C. C. C. & St. Louis, Burlington, St. Paul and Chicago Gas were the strongest speculatives. The upward movement was further increased in the first hour and at 10:30 prices were up ¼ to 2½ per cent. Toward 11 o'clock a pressure to realize caused a slight reaction. The stock market was very dull after 11 o'clock, and while there were no material changes in quotations the tendency of prices was downward. All of the stocks shaded off materially. At the closing, however, prices were firm again and within a fraction of the best figures.

A GIGANTIC EMBEZZLEMENT.

CHICAGO, Dec. 13.—Curtis G. Stoddart, an American banker, who resides in London and a member of the banking firm of C. G. Stoddart & Co., of New York and Canada, has been arrested here charged with embezzling $2,200,000 of stock and $4,000,000 of bonds of the Kansas City, Arkansas and New Orleans railroad. He is also accused of irregular conduct in defrauding the Chicago and Arkansas Construction company, which had the contract to build the railroad projected to run from Beebe, Ark., to Monroe, Ala.

Mr. Stoddart, who was seen at the Richelieu after giving bail, said that F. C. Rutan, of this city, president of the Construction company, induced him to attempt to float the bonds. He had underwritten $1,000,000 just as the Park National bank, of this city, failed, of which he was not informed till a week later. He expected to send the $1,000,000 to President Parker, of that bank, who was treasurer of the railroad company.

Mr. Stoddart came to America and claims to have found the Construction company irregular. Visiting Arkansas, the railroad company was reorganized, the old issue of bonds declared void, and Mr. Stoddart was elected president and treasurer. He arranged for taking the contract which the Construction company had procured. Mr. Stoddart offers to give up the bonds and stock when paid $160,000 for his advances and obligation incurred as special agent of the Construction company.

An Innocent Man Hanged.

ROCKPORT, Ind., Dec. 13.—Just before the death of an unknown man at Tennison a few days ago he made the startling assertion that he was the murderer of John E. Bilderbach, near Fort Branch, twenty years ago, for which crime Thomas Camp, asserting his innocence, was hanged. If the dying statement of this man be true it shows that a terrible mistake was committed, resulting in the death of an honest man.

The Duff Opera Company Stranded.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Dec. 13.—The Duff Opera company was stranded here Thursday and up to noon Friday. The members of the company took in the town and passed the time as best they could. The tale of sorrow which they all related was to the effect that they could not get any money from their manager, and that the hotel people were watching their trunks.

Murphy Wins First Prize.

CHICAGO, Dec. 13.—Joseph A. Murphy won the diamond medal and first prize of $150 in the newspaper men's billiard tourney last night by defeating Riley. The latter was to play 125 points to Murphy's 150, and did so within five small buttons. The game was most exciting throughout, for until the winning point was counted Riley was within call. He played pluckily and well, but his opponent's spurt at the finish was irresistible.

A Horrible Discovery.

BRISTOL, Pa., Dec. 13.—A horrible discovery has been made in this city. A colored woman by the name of Julius was found dead in her house. She is supposed to have been dead for four weeks. Vermin had nearly eaten her face away. Many thought it a case of murder. Coroner Brennan, of Bucks county, is investigating the case.

A Big Blaze in Sandusky.

SANDUSKY, O., Dec. 13.—The Big Four Railway company's grain elevator here, together with several adjoining buildings belonging to the company and about 3,000,000 feet of lumber belonging to the Sandusky Lumber and Box company, was destroyed by fire. Total loss, $100,000.

What a Spark Did.

ELLIOTT, N. D., Dec 13.—During a terrific wind storm a spark from a locomotive blew into the North Dakota elevator, and the structure was burned down, together with 50,000 bushels of wheat.

DEATH OF GEN. TERRY.

The Brilliant Old Soldier's Sword Sheathed Forever.

THE HERO OF FORT FISHER.

His Brilliant Assault on and Capture of That Post Won Him Promotion and the Thanks of Congress—A Successful Indian Fighter.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Dec. 17.—Brevet Maj. Gen. Alfred H. Terry, of the United States army, died at his residence in this city at 4 o'clock Tuesday morning.

Heart failure, due to Bright's disease, was the cause of death. He had been ill over two years.

Alfred Howe Terry was born in Hartford, Conn., Nov. 10, 1827. He was educated in the public schools of New Haven and attended the Yale law school, but having been admitted to the bar he did not graduate. He began the practice of law in 1849. From 1854 to 1860 he was clerk of the superior and supreme courts of Connecticut. His military tastes were strongly developed even before the civil war, for he was already an active and conspicuous member of the state militia. He had been placed in command of the Second Connecticut regiment in 1854, and this corps while he was its colonel was mustered into the federal service in 1861 in response to the call for "three months" men. It was led by Gen. Terry at the battle of Bull Run. At the expiration of the three months' enlistment he organized the Seventh Connecticut volunteers, and was appointed their colonel in September of that year (1861).

He took part in the capture of Port Royal, S. C., and at the siege of Fort Pulaski was commended for his soldierly zeal. He received the appointment of brigadier general of volunteers in April, 1862, and served in the operations around Charleston. In the Virginia campaign of 1864 he commanded a division of the Army of the James, and was actively engaged at Drury's Bluff, Bermuda Hundred and the seige of Petersburg, having charge of an army corps during a portion of this period.

His Assault on Fort Fisher.

The first attempt to capture Fort Fisher, which commanded the sea approaches to Wilmington, N. C., having failed, Gen. Terry was ordered to renew the attack on Jan. 2, 1865. His force numbered a little over 8,000 men. The fort was garrisoned by a force of 2,500 men. On Jan. 13 he debarked his troops five miles above the fort. He proceeded to throw a strong line of intrenchments across the peninsula between the sea and Cape Fear river, two miles north of the fort and facing toward Wilmington.

When the troops were landed Admiral Porter, with a force of forty-four vessels of about 300 guns, opened fire on the works, and from 4:30 o'clock until 6 p. m. four shots a second, or 20,000 in all, were poured into the fortification. It was the heaviest bombardment of the war. The intrenchments were completed the following day, and after Gen. Terry had made a reconnoissance of the fort he determined, in view of the difficulty of maintaining a siege in winter, to carry it by assault, which he did.

His success was brilliant and decisive, and for this achievement he was soon after promoted to be major general of volunteers, with the rank of brigadier general in the regular army. Congress accorded a vote of thanks to him and his command. He afterward rendered efficient aid at the capture of Wilmington, and in March, 1865, was placed in the command of the Tenth Army corps, sharing in the concluding operations in North Carolina.

A Successful Indian Fighter.

After the surrender of Lee at Appomattox he commanded successively the departments of Virginia, the south and Dakota. He held the latter command in 1873 when the government sent the gold exploring expedition into the Black Hills. He was one of the commission appointed by Gen. Grant to treat with the Sioux for the cession of that country to the government, and participated in the great council which was held at Red Cloud agency in September of that year.

His most noted services since the war were on the frontier, and he acquired a high reputation as a successful Indian fighter. In 1876 he conducted a remarkable campaign against the hostile Sioux in the northwest. It was in this campaign that Gen. Custer with a portion of Terry's force was ambushed and slain. Gen. Terry had long been one of the most popular officers in the regular army.

Ex-Senator Wallace's Bank Closes.

CLEARFIELD, Pa., Dec. 17.—The doors of the Clearfield County bank were closed Tuesday morning. The depositors are safe by a mortgage on real estate for three times the amount of deposit. The liabilities are $350,000 and assets $650,000. The owner of the bank, ex-United States Senator William A. Wallace, has appointed J. S. N. McCarroll, of Harrisburg, W. E. Wallace and A. O. Smith, of Clearfield, assignees.

Puddlers' Wages Reduced.

POTTSTOWN, Pa., Dec. 17.—Notices have been posted by the Pottstown iron company announcing a reduction of twenty-five cents per ton in the wages of puddlers, and a proportionate reduction in the wages of all employes in the plate and puddle department. On Monday, Dec. 29, the new rate will go into effect.

SKEPTICAL ABOUT KOCH'S CURE.

NEW YORK, Dec. 16.—The use of the lymph secured from Dr. Koch for this city is a source of considerable interest to local physicians, many of whom are not inclined to attribute to the article the curative powers that it is claimed to possess. Among the doubters is Dr. Henry Robinson, whom a reporter called on Monday. "Thus far," said Dr. Robinson, "popular anticipations regarding the lymph have not been realized. My own idea is that Professor Koch's discovery will not prove to be all that he hopes for it. If it can cure consumption fully developed it is of course a great blessing, but just how the lymph can go direct to one part of the body and effect a cure of that one part without reference to other parts is something I fail to understand."

The doctor was asked what he thought of keeping the character of the lymph a secret. "It is derogatory to professional character," said Dr. Robinson, "for a physician to hold a patent for a medicine or to dispense a secret nostrum, whether it be the compositive or exclusive property of himself or others. For if such nostrum be of real efficacy any concealment regarding it is inconsistent with beneficence and professional liberality."

Dr. Robinson added that the address in Berlin where his lymph can be obtained and all particulars regarding it, even to sending out packets of it (as in Dr. Jacobi's case) C. O. D., all tend to give a tinge of quackery to the business. "Dr. Koch," said the doctor, "has not informed the profession what lymph is or how it is made, and by persisting in keeping the thing a secret violates the first rule of medical ethics, which declares that it is derogatory to professional character for a physician to hold a patent for a medicine.

"I think also that it is a questionable proceeding for the members of our profession here who have obtained some of the lymph to introduce into the system of their patients a substance of which they absolutely know nothing. Really up to this point, in spite of all the sensational articles which have been written upon the subject, we have no proof that anything has been done by Koch in the treatment of the particular disease which we could not do before his lymph was heard of.

"Up to the present time we really have no proof that the discovery of a substance which will cure tuberculous diseases has been made, and indeed I doubt if we shall ever hear of its having been done. At any rate four to six months will be required before any definite statement can be made. I fear that it will end in a great amount of harm, and that patients will meet with bitter disappointment."

A dispatch from Berlin says that Professor Virchow says that the wholesale inoculation of patients with Koch's lymph is absurd until further experiments have proved the nature of the remedy. He thinks it dangerous for children and those in advanced stages of consumption.

The Patients Doing Well.

NEW YORK, Dec. 16.—The patients at the Mt. Sinai, St. Luke and German hospitals inoculated with the Koch tuberculoses lymph are all doing well, and thus far the experiment has not been attended with any evil consequences. At the German hospital the experiments have been especially successful, the patients there showing in a marked degree all of the reactionary symptoms observed by Dr. Koch. Two young men suffering respectively from laryngital and pulmonary phthisis, who were inoculated, showed the reactionary symptoms, such as increased coughing and slight fever.

Won't Tell the Result.

BALTIMORE, Md., Dec. 16.—The authorities of the Johns Hopkins hospital continue their policy of keeping from the public news of the progress of the fourteen patients who have received injections of Koch's lymph. Out of the fourteen patients ten had been previously in the hospital for various ailments. The other four had volunteered to undergo the ordeal in the hope thereby to rid themselves of the germs of a disease which they knew would eventually cause death.

Windom Urging Silver Purchases.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16.—Secretary Windom and Mr. Leech, the director of the mint, had a consultation with the members of the Republican caucus committee, and discussed the possibilities of immediate legislation to meet the financial situation. Mr. Windom urged upon the committee the necessity of purchasing the surplus silver, of which he said there was about 11,000,000 ounces on the market. He also advocated the necessity of reducing the amount of bonds to be required of national banks. These two propositions are features of the scheme which has been under consideration in the caucus committee for three days. Senator Sherman has been urging upon the committee his plan (proposed in an amendment to a bill now pending in the senate) for the issue of $100,000,000 of convertible 2 per cent. bonds, but this proposition has not met with very favorable consideration.

Lorillard Brick Works Fail.

NEW YORK, Dec. 17.—The failure of the Lorillard Brick Works company, of No. 65 South street and Keyport, N. J., is found to be more serious than was at first supposed. Receiver Seidler said today that the liabilities would probably reach $2,000,000 instead of $1,000,000. "By careful management and nursing there can be worked out of the assets over $2,000,000," he added. The stringency of the money market and the brick boycott were given as the cause of the failure.

His Wife Wants the Money He Lost.

BOSTON, Dec. 17.—An important civil suit has been brought by Mrs. Annie Everett for Jonathan Bourne, of New Bedford, to recover $48,000 from John Stetson, President of the Carlton Associates, at whose rooms Bourne is alleged to have lost the money in gambling at the game of roulette. Ex-Governor Long is leading council for the plaintiff and Gen. Butler represents the other side.

Sold Counterfeits Cheap.

NEW YORK, Dec. 16.—William Mestayer, James J. Tierney and Frank S. Siebert, leaders of a gang in this city who have for months past been engaged in selling counterfeit stardard dollars to Italians and others who were willing to take the chances of passing them, were held in $3,000 bail each for examination. The bogus coin was sold at the rate of $10 a hundred.

Bancroft Still Missing.

PROVIDENCE, Dec. 16.—There is nothing new in the Bancroft mystery, all clews having been followed up without result. The lists of the steamers sailing from New York have been searched without obtaining a trace of the missing man.

The Opposing Factions Engage in a Fierce Free Fight.

MICHAEL DAVITT INJURED.

During Simultaneous Meetings in Ballynahill the Parnellites Attack the Davitt Party—Davitt Leads His Forces and Scores a Victory.

DUBLIN, Dec. 17.—Intense excitement has been created here by the receipt of news of a serious conflict at Ballynahill and the wounding of Michael Davitt.

Mr. Parnell was addressing a meeting at that place Tuesday, while at the same place and time another meeting was being addressed by Messrs. Davitt and Tanner. So close together were the meeting places that the voices of the orators of one party were plainly audible to those of the other.

Attacked by Parnellites.

The speeches were of a most violent character, and the words of the speakers were interrupted by cheers, insulting jeers and defiant cries. Mr. Parnell's appearance was the signal for a mighty outburst of applause from his adherents.

The arrival of their leader, coupled with the galling taunts of their opponents, seemed to excite the Parnellites to fury, and with a wild and sudden rush they threw themselves upon the opposition meeting.

Davitt Wounded.

Promptly jumping from the speaker's platform Davitt and Tanner, with the priests by their sides, placed themselves at the head of their friends, and fighting desperately and fiercely drove back the attacking Parnellites. Sticks, clubs and stones were freely used, and Davitt, while pressing on in the front of his supporters, received a severe scalp wound.

Many others are known to have been more or less severely injured, but nothing more than the most meager details are yet at hand.

Fighting in Dublin.

In this city crowds surrounded the bulletin boards and punctuated their reading of the news with hostile cries and taunts. In some instances blows were exchanged, and the evidences of an ugly feeling are everywhere displayed where men gather in groups to discuss the situation or defy one another, as the case may be. Police men pass rapidly to and fro dispersing the knots of angry men and insisting on constant movement.

A rumor has been put in circulation that the troops of the garrison have been ordered to be held in their barracks ready at a moment's notice to protect the city or march into the provinces. The rumor has, however, as yet not been officially confirmed.

Hopeful Parnellites.

DUBLIN, Dec. 17.—The Parnellites are very hopeful regarding the attitude they expect that William O'Brien will assume on his return from America. Reading between the lines of his recent manifestoes and letters, they think they detect an unwillingness to entirely cut loose from his old friend and ally of many years.

It was this feeling, doubtless, that suggested a possible compromise to be arranged in Paris at the proposed meeting between Messrs. Parnell, O'Brien and McCarthy. By that time the Kilkenny election will have been decided.

If the popular verdict should indorse Parnell the editor of United Ireland will see the folly of going against the strong current of popular sentiment. Should the electors decide against him the Parnellites expect that O'Brien will again urge Parnell to temporarily retire, and propose that he, with a committee representing all opinions, shall for the time being direct the affairs of the Nationalist party.

It's a Fight to the Bitter End.

In this connection the Parnellites are congratulating themselves over the adhesion of Patrick J. O'Brien, member for North Tipperary, and O'Brien Dalton, of the National League, and declare that Patrick J. O'Brien's advocacy of Parnell's leadership will decide County Monaghan, Ulster, which has hitherto been regarded as doubtful.

In discussing the general subject the McCarthyites, while admitting that the towns throughout Ireland are largely in favor of the old leader, say that they rely for success on the immense influence of the priesthood and the country districts.

On both sides it is now admitted that the verdict of Kilkenny, while it will prove a very large sized straw to indicate the set of the current, will hardly be accepted as final by the defeated party, and both factions unite in declaring that the contest must now be fought to the bitter end.

Succi's Weight Stationary.

NEW YORK, Dec. 16.—During the twenty-four hours ending at 8:30 o'clock Monday morning Signor Succi braced himself up on thirty-two ounces of water and a quarter pound of chopped ice. This diet seemed to agree with him, as when he stepped on the scales he found that he weighed 107¾ pounds, his exact weight at the same hour the morning before. The fact that he had not lost even a single ounce caused the signor to wrinkle his haggard countenance into what was meant for a smile. He is now in the fortieth day of his fast, and he looks upon the feat of abstaining from food five days more as a trifle hardly worth alluding to.

Proposed Railroad Extension.

OTTAWA, Ont., Dec. 17.—H. E. Smallman, of Malone, N. Y., is here regarding a proposal to extend the Canada Atlantic railway into New York state, in conjunction with the Valley Falls, Malone and Schenectady Railway company, which, he says, will build a line connecting Ottawa directly with towns in the Adirondacks.

TESTING KOCH'S CURE.

How the Patients in the New York Hospitals Are Progressing.

NEW YORK, Dec. 17.—Several of the hospitals where patients have lately been inoculated with Dr. Koch's lymph will take no more phthisic cases, as the limit of their respective accommodations has about been reached, and owing to the fact that the physicians are inclined to look upon phthisis as a contagious disease. At Mt. Sinai hospital, where there are twenty-seven cases under treatment, positively no more phthisic patients will be received.

The house surgeon said Tuesday: "If we admitted all patients suffering from phthisis our accommodations would not nearly suffice. Then we do not feel like exposing our other patients affected with slighter disorders to the danger of contagion, which there always is from phthisic cases. We are now getting ready to receive and treat lupus and bone tuberculoses cases.

"In the phthisic cases there have so far been no very great symptomatic changes, but in the lupus cases the changes have been marked and most satisfactory. One remarkable change is an increase in the size of the spleen, in one case to nearly double its normal size. This is an entirely new discovery and a most interesting one."

All the patients inoculated at Mt. Sinai are doing as well as can be expected.

The German hospital will also receive no more phthisis cases for similar reasons as the Mount Sinai. It will, however, receive lupus and bone tuberculosis cases. From the physicians' standpoint the case of the man inoculated for laryngital tuberculosis at the German hospital yesterday is a most satisfactory one. He has shown all the reactionary symptoms that he was expected to show.

The four little girls inoculated at the Foundling asylum are doing well.

The patients at St. Luke's and St. Mark's hospitals are all in a satisfactory condition.

Can Pay Either Duty They Desire.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17.—The treasury department has decided that importers of merchandise imported and entered in bond prior to Oct. 1, 1890, and now in bonded warehouses, have the privilege of withdrawing either at the old or new rate of duty. If they elect to withdraw at the old rate the withdrawal entry must be made prior to Feb. 1, 1891, and duties should be estimated upon the liquidated weights as ascertained at the time of the original importation. If, however, they choose to withdraw and pay duties at the new rate the withdrawal can be made at any time within three years from the date of original importation, and duties should be estimated upon the weights as ascertained at the time of withdrawal.

They Fell from the Trapeze.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Dec. 17.—The engagement of Lee and Robert Howard, trapeze performers, was brought to an abrupt and unpleasant close at Wonderland last evening. They performed the daring "Mexican ladder trapeze act." Upon the bar of a trapeze was a long ladder. At one end of it was a small trapeze upon which Robert performed while his brother, astride of the other end, acted as a balance. One of the ropes broke and both the performers fell to the stage. Robert escaped with slight injuries, but Lee struck the edge of the stage on his back and is badly injured. He will be taken to his home in Beaver Falls, Pa., as soon as he is able to be moved. The men were performing without a safety net.

A Murderous Son.

CHICAGO, Dec. 17.—At 10:30 o'clock last night Paul Holz, 17 years old, of 404 West Chicago avenue, rushed into the West Chicago avenue police station and said that his father had committed suicide by cutting his throat. When the officers arrived at the house they found Holz lying on the bed with blood gushing from a deep gash in the neck. He raised up on his arm, and pointing his finger at his son Paul, said: "He did it. He killed me for my insurance." The son was arrested and locked up. After being in the cell a few minutes the son confessed that he made the attempt on his father's life.

Dashed Into an Electric Car.

BOSTON, Dec. 17.—A horse owned and driven by Abbott P. Joll, of No. 6 Anderson street, became frightened and dashed down Irving street hill into an electric car in Cambridge street. The wagon shafts pierced the car and severely injured John C. Flanders, of No. 3 Walnut street, and Mrs. Delia L. Giddings, of No. 409 Broadway, Cambridge. The former, after having his wounds dressed in a drug store, was taken to his home, while the latter was removed to the Massachusetts general hospital. The horse, for which $800 had been recently refused, broke his leg and had to be shot.

Mary Seymour Howell, Susan B. Anthony and Mary F. Eastman also spoke.

A MAN A MASS OF FLAMES.

He Loses His Head and Allows Himself to Be Burned to Death.

BUFFALO, Dec. 16.—Fire from a furnace at the Barber Asphalt company's works at East Buffalo communicated with oil used as fuel and caused a terrible explosion and fire Monday morning, which resulted in the death of Watchman Neil Campbell. The man was frightfully burned about the face, hands and body. The flames attacked the engine room and communicated with the machine shop, both of which were destroyed.

Superintendent Warren said that so far as he could learn Campbell started the fire under the boilers and failed to light the fuel properly. Some of the oil got on to his clothes, and in an instant he was a mass of flame. He rushed out leaving the oil running, which fired and caused the explosion. Campbell sat down on the outer steps all ablaze, and was burned to death without apparently making any effort to save himself. It is supposed he lost his head.

SITTING BULL KILLED.

The Turbulent Old Sioux Chief and His Son Shot Dead.

IN A BATTLE WITH POLICE.

The Indian Guard Attempted to Arrest Bull, When the Hostiles Turned on Them and a Fierce Fight Occurred. Many Killed on Both Sides.

STANDING ROCK AGENCY, N. D., Dec. 17—Sitting Bull, the turbulent Sioux chief who never accepted the domination of the white man, and for years has been the disturbing element among the Indians of the plains, was shot dead yesterday morning on the banks of the Grand river in a battle with the Indian police following his arrest by them.

He died in the midst of his captors while directing his braves in an attempt to rescue him. A number of Indians fell on both sides, including Sitting Bull's son Crow Foot, Black Bird and Catch Bear, and had it not been for the support of a troop of cavalry the band of police would have been annihilated.

A report had been brought to the Standing Rock agency that Sitting Bull, who was in camp on Grand river, about forty miles distant, was on the eve of an advance with his followers to the Bad Lands to join the hostiles. It was determined to arrest Sitting Bull without loss of time, and the Indian police at the agency, followed by a troop of cavalry under Capt. Sonchet and a company of infantry under Col. Drum, started for the camp.

SITTING BULL.

Sharp and Deadly.

The police having reached the first lodges without being perceived, made a rush on the camp, and had Sitting Bull in their custody before his braves could rally round him. As the old chief was being led away on horseback his son Crow Foot called passionately on the hostile Indians to rescue their leader, and they closed in, discharging their rifles on the captors. Sitting Bull shouted commands in shrill tones to his men.

The police, although outnumbered, gallantly defended themselves, and the firing on both sides was sharp and deadly. The old chief suddenly fell from his saddle, pierced by a bullet, whether fired by his own men or the police will never be known. His fall excited the braves to a pitch of frenzy, and they would have made short work of the police but for the sudden appearance of the soldiers, who, in skirmish line and with a Hotchkiss gun in play in their rear, advanced briskly. The hostiles fled, leaving the bodies of Sitting Bull and his son on the field.

About Eighteen Killed.

BISMARCK, N. D., Dec. 17.—In the affair at the Standing Rock agency yesterday Sitting Bull and seven or eight of the hostiles were killed. About eight of the Indian police were also killed. It appears that the arrest had been made by the police, who started with Sitting Bull for the agency, when about 100 of the hostiles attacked them and attempted to rescue their leader. The cavalry were about three miles behind, and a courier was dispatched to them for assistance. The troops hastened forward and arrived just in time to prevent a wholesale massacre of the police, who were entirely out of ammunition when the soldiers arrived.

Too much praise cannot be given the faithful native police for their bravery and loyalty, several of them giving up their lives rather than be false to their trust. It is believed that the death of Sitting Bull will be the end of the trouble at Standing Rock, although his followers having tasted bloodshed will perhaps require energetic and severe treatment. The military is awake to the gravity of the situation, and the result will no doubt be the complete disarmament of the disloyal redskins.

He Was Bent on Mischief.

ST. PAUL, Dec. 17.—Gen. Miles said last night that Sitting Bull had been dispatching couriers to all the tribes, even those in Canada, instructing them to secure all the ammunition possible and prepare to go on the warpath in the spring. When he found that preparations were being made by the army to break up this scheme it was believed that he intended to begin fighting very soon, and his arrest was ordered.

"I leave to-night for the Black Hills," said the general, "and I shall be on the reservation in three days. Gen. Brooke has reported to me that he has exhausted all peaceable means of settling whatever difficulties there may be. I think the situation is serious for the reason that there are a great many settlers comparatively unprotected, and they would be the first to feel the outbreak. I can't say what will be done until I am on the ground; besides, it would not be good policy for me to disclose it if I had some plan decided on."

Their Bodies Mutilated.

TOMBSTONE, A. T., Dec. 17.—The bodies of Bridger and Robinson, who were killed by the Apaches Saturday, were brought in last night. The bodies had been stripped, robbed and mutilated. The cattle men and prospectors feel unsafe, as the Indians are believed still to be in the vicinity and are coming in for protection. No action has yet been taken by the military.

The Weather.

Easterly winds, shifting to northwesterly, and much colder Wednesday.

A DOMESTIC TRAGEDY.

The Wife Hanging Stiff and Cold and the Husband Cuts His Throat.

CHIPPEWA FALLS, Wis., Dec. 17.—The village of Cadalt, ten miles west of here, is excited over a murder and suicide. Peter St. George, of that place, gave the alarm that his wife was missing. Search was instituted, and the missing woman was soon found in the woodshed, hanging by the neck and stiff and cold. The husband was at once suspected as the murderer. Some of his neighbors even went so far as to accuse him openly of the crime.

The verdict of the coroner's jury, which was reached in a short time, claimed that the death of Mrs. St. George was due to murder by unknown hands. The officers at once forced their way to St. George's retreat in the second story of a low cottage, where he had spent most of the day, only to be further horrified by a suicide. A razor had done the work. His throat was cut from ear to ear and death must have resulted instantly. Domestic troubles are alleged as the cause for the shocking deeds.

Death Nearly Nipped Them.

DUBLIN, Dec. 17.—The Royal hotel at Kilkeel, county Down, was destroyed by fire last night. The inmates were asleep, and on awakening found the flames had cut off all the usual means of exit. The proprietor and his family occupied rooms on an upper floor. Finding escape by the stairs impossible, the hotel keeper seized his son, and carrying him to a window flung him down toward the sidewalk. A man in the crowd of spectators caught the lad uninjured in his arms. The proprietor and his wife then sprang from the window, and they too escaped with but slight injuries. A girl leaped from an upper window and was so seriously hurt that she cannot recover. Ladders were finally placed and the other occupants of the hotel were rescued uninjured.

Returned Boodlers Will Be Tried.

NEW YORK, Dec. 17.—The trio of untried boodlers, Robert Delacy, William Maloney and Charles Dempsey, of the aldermanic board of 1884, will have to stand trial. They came back from Canada recently anticipating immunity from answering to the charges against them. Counsel for each of them appeared before Judge Cowing in the court of general sessions and asked for the dismissal of the indictments against them. The motion was denied and they must stand trial.

He Destroyed the Picture.

OMAHA, Neb., Dec. 17.—Just before the closing of the Art exhibition rooms last night a young man named C. J. Warbington struck with a chair the picture by Bouguereau, the French artist, on exhibition there, and tore two large rents in it. He claimed to have acted from religious motives. The picture is valued at $18,000. He was arrested.

The Largest Ever Made.

LYNN, Mass., Dec. 17.—The Lynn brass foundry has just made for the Thomson Electric Welding company two copper castings, supposed to be the largest ever made. They weigh 1,500 pounds, and are to be used in the welding machines being erected for the United States government for the navy yards.

THE SESSION IS SECRET

A Great Meeting of the Railway Magnates Being Held.

THE OUTCOME IMPORTANT.

It Is Believed That the Conference Marks the Beginning of a New Era in American Railway Manage-ment — The Agreement.

NEW YORK, Dec. 16.—Monday was, in the opinion of financial and railway men, the red letter day of the year. While it cannot be foretold what will be the result of the conference, and it may not be known for a day or so, yet that it will be of very great importance, and that the day marks the beginning of a new era in American railway management, cannot be doubted. The condition of our transportation business has for years been going from bad to worse. The formation of innumerable traffic associations has been unavailing.

Even the famous presidents' meeting two years ago at Mr. Morgan's house failed of lasting results. Like all other contracts of a similar character the "Gentlemen's Agreement" is a dead letter. The principles on which the new agreement will be based are the results of long consideration and discussion on the part of Mr. Gould, Mr. Morgan and others. These gentlemen believe that the result of their efforts will be an agreement between the presidents of the western roads which will be lasting and effective.

All but Chicago and Alton.

The presidents of all the leading railroads west of Chicago and St. Louis have signed the preliminary agreement with the exception of President Blackstone, of the Chicago and Alton. His refusal to sign is based upon skepticism. He does not believe that this association will be more lasting than its predecessors. That is his only reason for not signing. His road was never a rate cutter, and the presidents of the other roads believe that the Alton will maintain rates as well as the rest.

Following is the full text of the preliminary agreement on which the new association will be based: "It is proposed to form a new association to succeed the present several associations west of Chicago and St. Louis. The new association is to embrace all the roads west of St. Louis and Chicago to the Pacific coast; the new association to continue not less than five years; to have one general manager or commissioner, with such assistants as may be agreed upon or found necessary.

The Agreement.

The association shall take upon itself the making of through and competitive tariffs, the management of competitive business, the conduct of outside agencies for procuring it, the routeing of it over the respective roads of the members of the association in such amount, manner and proportions as may be agreed upon between the members of the association. A sufficient guarantee shall be contained in the agreement as to prevent rebates or deviations from the regular rates.

During the period named the members of said association shall desist from the construction of any new railway lines that might compete in the territory or with the business of another member of the association, at least without the consent of the other parties to be affected.

A board of arbitration shall be named to whom all questions shall be finally referred for arbitration where the parties cannot agree as between themselves.

All other associations now covering the different parts of the territory named shall be abolished or made subordinate to the new association.

The selection of the commissioner and assistants to manage this association shall be made by the presidents of the several roads composing the association, and shall require two-thirds vote of the members. The association herein contemplated is to enter into an agreement with the Central Traffic association and the Trunk Line association in such manner that each association shall within its respective territory co-operate for the mutual enjoyment of the whole.

Any road in the territory of either of these associations that shall refuse to conform to the rules of the parties thereto or to become members of the association shall be excluded from all participation in the advantages of the association.

We, the undersigned, agree to use our best endeavors and influence to procure the perfection and enforcement of the foregoing programme.

The Meeting Secret.

The meeting began at 11:15 o'clock Monday morning at Mr. J. Pierpont Morgan's house, 219 Madison avenue, and was strictly a secret one. Representatives of all the roads that had agreed to respond to the call were present. There was no representative of the Chicago and Alton present, nor were the Vanderbilt lines represented. Before the meeting Mr. Morgan stated to the reporters that he could not say how long the meeting would last. No information would be given out at his house, he said. Whatever information the presidents should decide to make public would be given out at the office of Drexel, Morgan & Co., at the corner of Wall and Broad streets.

The Representatives.

Among those who were invited to attend the meeting were W. C. Van Dorne, president of the Canadian Pacific; Joseph Hickson, general manager of the Grand Trunk; Jay Gould, president of the Missouri Pacific; Sidney Dillon, president of the Union Pacific; General Manager S. H. H. Clark, of the Missouri Pacific and the Union Pacific systems; C. P. Huntington, of the Southern Pacific, and Chairman George C. Magoun and President Allen Manvil for the Atchison system; President Thomas F. Oakes and Henry Villard, of the Northern Pacific; Marvin Hughitt, president of the Chicago and Northwestern and of the Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis and Omaha; James J. Hill, president of the Great Northern; Roswell Miller, president of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul; R. R. Cable, president of the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific; Thomas Lowry, president of the "Soo" line; Charles E. Perkins, president of the Wabash; David H. Moffat, president, or George Cappell, chairman of the directory of the Denver and Rio Grande.

Aldace F. Walker, chairman of the Interstate Railway association; M. Stickney, of the Stickney system; C. P. Huntington, Russell Sage, Gen. John J. McCook, George C. Magoun and Marvin Hughitt were among the early arrivals.

CLARKSON'S VIEW OF IT.

Prefers Looking to the Next Victory to Talking of the Last Defeat.

BOSTON, Dec. 16.—Ex-Assistant Postmaster General Clarkson, who is in town to visit his two sons who are at Harvard, in an interview on national topics said he did not believe in talking much about the last defeat, but would rather look forward to the next victory. He did not ascribe to the big importers an extraordinarily large share of the general result. "We must," he said, "be as smart as the Democrats and go to the family and every interest and show them the interest they have in standing by the McKinley bill, and thus develop American interests. We must show the workman that if he gets free trade prices he will also receive free trade wages. We have gone into the fight with this measure and must establish its popularity."

Speaking of the election bill Mr. Clarkson said: "I am for the election bill. Every fair minded man ought to be willing that every other voter in the land should have as fair a chance as himself. That is all there is to the election bill. There is no assurance that the bill will pass, however. Some of the senators who have business speculations at stake are inclined to let the bill be defeated through delay. Others have a negatively honest opposition to it who are interested in other bills, and who fear that a long consideration of the election bill will defeat those other measures."

Of the prospects for financial legislation Mr. Clarkson thought that there was a majority in each house for free coinage. He did not know what the president would do with such a bill. We need a revision of our banking system in the interest of our farmers. The Farmers' Alliance demands it, and Mr. Clarkson thought that the Alliance had come to stay until some modification of the banking system was made.

He thought that the speaker of the next house would be a southerner, but confessed that he was not wise enough to name the presidential candidates in 1892. Our defeat, he said, has had the good result of stopping party quarreling and jealousies, and compelling the party to get down to work in earnest.

THE JEWS IN RUSSIA.

Their Horrible Persecution Necessitates Either Baptism, Suicide or Flight.

LONDON, Dec. 16.—The question of immigration is exciting lively interest in England, whither large numbers of Jews are flocking from Russia by way of Germany. The British government has instructed its consuls on the continent to discourage such immigration, and to warn intending passengers not to rely upon assurances of finding employment in Great Britain. The Home for Destitute Jews is thronged, and many of the unfortunates are assisted to pass on to America. English workingmen are determined that the four to five million Russian Jews shall not be unloaded on these shores, and leading Hebrews are endeavoring to placate the complainants by the statement that the refugees will be forwarded, as they arrive, to New York and other American ports.

The situation of the Jews in Russia is becoming so horrible that they would probably all leave if permitted. In the words of one of them, their only choice is between baptism and suicide. Vast numbers are choosing baptism; others risk death in escaping across the frontier, and how many select suicide the world outside of Russia will never know.

It is not thought that the great meeting in the Guildhall Wednesday night will produce much influence upon the czar, who has since answered it by a decree increasing the severity of the anti-Semitic laws, and who is believed to be personally determined to break the race down in Russia. Chief Rabbi Adler has stated that it is the greatest trial of the Jews since Esther, as the number of the victims places this far above the cruel persecutions under Ferdinand and Isabella and other potentates of a former age.

Decoyed to His Death.

PEORIA, Ills., Dec. 16.—F. P. King, who was murdered in Chillicothe Saturday night, came to Streator, Ills., from England three years ago. In England he was a local prize fighter, but since coming to this country he has devoted himself strictly to work and the accumulation of sufficient funds to bring his wife and family here. Three weeks ago he came to Chillicothe. It is evident that he was decoyed to the place where he was murdered. His assailants must have had a terrible struggle, for he was a powerful man and did not die easily. There is no clew to his murderers.

Pretty Serious Accusation.

LOUISVILLE, Dec. 16.—W. J. Leroy, a freight conductor on the Louisville and Nashville railroad, has been arrested. His arrest, it is alleged, is the first of wholesale prosecutions to begin at once against trainmen on the road. They are accused of systematically breaking into and robbing freight cars, and it is even charged that wrecks have been arranged in advance to cover evidence of wholesale thefts. These thefts, it is stated, are part of a conspiracy against the road, which has existed ever since the strike of three months ago.

Railroad Officials Change.

BOSTON, Dec. 16.—R. W. Eavenson, formerly superintendent of the eastern division of the New York and New England railroad, has been appointed superintendent of transportation for the whole road. C. N. Chevalier has been transferred to succeed R. W. Eavenson, and D. N. Nichols, formerly general superintendent of the St. Louis and San Francisco, becomes superintendent of the western and Springfield divisions, with headquarters at Hartford, Conn.

Serious Stabbing Affray.

ELBERON, N. J., Dec. 16.—A serious stabbing affray occurred early Monday morning in an Italian boarding house at West Asbury Park. During a row between three of the boarders one of them drew a stiletto and plunged it into his two antagonists, cutting them badly. It is believed both will die. Their assailant fled, but a posse of police are after him. The New York police have been notified to watch incoming trains.

Work Stopped on the U. P.

PORTLAND, Ore., Dec. 17.—The chief engineer of the Union Pacific Railroad company has been directed by the executive committee of the road to stop all work on the road now in progress of construction between Portland and Seattle.

She Was Dressing for Death.

CRAWFORD, Ga., Dec. 17.—Miss Annie Heckle, while dressing for a Christmas tree party last night, was burned to death. The drapery of her dress caught fire from a gas jet.

Demorest's Magazine.

Go Snowshoeing? Yes my dear madame, why not?—provided the heavens be propitious and furnish the snow, and there is every prospect of plenty this winter. Snowshoeing is as pleasant sliding down hill,—after you know how, and you will know how, and how to form a club, and what to wear, and all about it, after reading the breezy article on 'Snowshoeing' in Demorest's Family Magazine for January; and if you don't become enthusiastic about the subject, we are mistaken. Or if your tastes are artistic rather than athletic, you will be delighted with the excellent paper for 'Modelling for Sculpture,' with its numerous and beautiful illustrations, including a superb full-page portrait of the eminent American sculptor Hartley; and if you have never modelled in clay, the suggestion for amateurs and beginners will be of great assistance. Sage Maidens of Cornell University' is another handsomely illustrated article, written by one of them, telling of some of the trials and many of the pleasures of the life of a 'co-ed' at that noted seat of learning; the illustrated Chinese story is particularly interesting; the other stories are all good; the 'Sanitarian' has seasonable articles about the 'Effects of Cold,' and how to take sitz, foot, and other baths, for remedial purposes, "Chat" and "The Word's Progress" are especially attractive; and all the other departments are brimful of good things. Indeed for beauty, variety, and completeness, Demorest's Family Magazine must be awarded the palm of superiority as the Family Magazine, and should be in every household. Published by W. JENNING'S DEMOREST 15 East 14th Street, New York.

All those who have given it a trial will not be without it. It cures, Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup.

"The tree of deepest root, is found least willing still to leave the ground" and this could once have been most truly said of chronic pain of any sort. But after the lapse of so many ages, a sovereign remedy has been found in Salvation Oil, every provident householder should have it.

Remember that our entire stock is nearly all goods purchased this season. In our dry goods and dress goods lines we have the most complete stock in the county.

LYON & CO.

SCIENTIFIC MISCELLANY.

Artifical Skull-Shaping.—Astonishing success has attended the efforts of Dr. Lannelongue, an eminent specialist of Paris, to give intelligence to a little idiot girl. Though four years old the child could neither walk nor stand, and never smiled nor took notice of anything. The doctor concluded that the abnormal narrowness of the head obstructed the growth of the brain, and in May last he made an incision in the centre of the skull and cut a piece of bone from the left side. The result was marvelous. Within lees than a month the child could walk, and she has become quite bright—playing and smiling and taking notice of everything around her.

Pain-Joy.—A German anatomist has called the attention of his class to certain hysterical women who are affected with a kind of 'pain-joy'—not only experiencing no pain from surgical mutilation, but having a mordid desire to bear without anaesthetics operations which should prove very painful: A young women was introduced who had seriously injured the lower jaw during a paroxysm of hysteria, but who had insisted upon having the necessary removal of part of the jaw and ligature of two arteriee performed without an anesthetic, and subsequently declared that the operation had given her great pleasure.

The Moon-Weather Problem.—From tables made by the use of synoptic charts, eliminating local disturbances Dr. G. Meyer believes he has accomplished what other investigators have sought to do without success—shown an influence on the moon and raised during the first quarter. No effect can be traced for other months.

Electrically-Aimed Guns.—In a new invention, a small dry battery, an electro magnet and a circuit closer of mercury are so arranged in the stock of a gun that the weapon can be discharged only when elevated to a predetermined angle. At other positions the trigger is locked and cannot be pulled, The device is claimed to ensure precision in range and accuracy of firing at night when the range has been previously obtained.

Another Silk.—A substance having all the essential qualities of silk has been made from wild hemp by Nayemura Sakusaburo, of Hikone, Japan. The plant grows on moors and hillsides and could be cultivated. The fibre is strong and glossy, and several silk factories are said to have found it to be no way inferior to silk.

The Potato Disease.—In Demmark, some interesting, and perhaps very valuable, researches into the potato disease have been made by Prof. J. L. Jenson. The disease is found to consist of a fungus, whose spores are carried by the wind, and which first attacks the foliage of the plants. It spreads to the tubers in about seven days by spores washed down from the stem and foliage. Considering these facts it was thought that the tubers might be protected by moulding the soil into a broad ridge, 3 or 4 inches wide, after the first weeding, and a further earthing up on one side only—causing the plants to bend so that the spores would fall away from the ridges—within seven days after the appearance of the disease on the foliage. Some 150 farmers are said to have experimented in this way, with these astonishing results: Where no moulding or earthing up was done, the percentage of diseased potatoes was 34; where the moulding was imperfect, 12, and where the moulding was perfect only 1. Infection during harvest was prevented by allowing the tubers to remain in the ground for a month after the withering of the tops

Cold Waves.—A cold wave is defined by Prof. T. Russell as a fall of temperature in 24 hours of 20 degrees over an area of 50,000 square miles, the temperature in some part of this area descending to 36 degrees. Between 1880 and 1890 no less than 691 cold waves were recorded in the United States. In the great cold wave of Jan. 17, 1882, the fall of 20 degrees extended over an area of 1,101,000 square miles, and the fall of 10 degrees included 2,929,000 square miles. In six cold waves a million square miles. Cold waves follow a day after an area of low pressure, or occur to the southeast of an area of high pressure, reaching their greatest extent when both conditions are present.

Nests for Germs.—The impurities which collect under finger-nails have been investigated in the bacteriological laboritories of Vienna. The matter obtained in 78 examinations was placed in culture solutions, and gave 36 kinds of micrococci, 18 of baccilli, and three of sarcinae. Cleanliness of the nails is especially necessary for all who come near a wound, and for those who live in a neighborhood where an epidemic prevails.

A Remarkable Preservation.—A Belgian chemist has found that the green tar left after extracting the oil from the white bark of the birch will effectually preserve even the most delicate textures from decay. It yields neither acid nor alkaloid, is remarkably fluid in alcoholic solution, and when once dried resists even the action of alcohol.

A New Idea.—A recent contract provides for street lighting in Paris on a novel plan. Power is distributed by the compressed air system to a great number of small motors, each of which supplies electricity for a small number of lambs.

It will be very hard for Geo. W. Delamater to convince the public in general that he is not a pretty big rascal. His dealings during the past year have been anything but fair and open handed, such as a man of honest principles would contract. Everybody knows it was not by fair means he got a great many delegates to the State Convention and everybody knows it was not by fair means he got the nomination and, though he failed to be elected, everybody knows by this time that his transactions in Philadelphia last week were anything but what they should have been.

At this season of the year when malaria lurks in the air, and bad colds not an unfrequent visitor, we long for a quick and effective remedy. There is scarcely a home without a sufferer from some of the many ills the flesh is heir to. A stimulant is after the intermediator. It is quick and effective. It brings relief and saves doctors bills. We can reccommend Mr. Max Klein for anything in the liquor line. His silver age Rye at $1.50 per quart is the best whiskey in the market. He will sell a y Pennsylvania Rye Whiskey, six years old, at 1.00 for each quart, or six for $5.00. Send for his price list and catalogue and mention this paper. The Best on Record.

On Wednesday a hunting party composed of John and William F Parker, J C and W W Barnhart, and John Zimmerman, returned from a hunting trip to Schutack, a place in the Alleghenies, with the great record of bringing along home eight large fine deer, one of which dressed 200 pounds. The party was out only about one week. Mr. J C Barnhart shot three out of the eight. Can any other hunting party beat this record?

A BOY'S MOUNTAIN RIDE.

Sixty Miles at Breakneck Speed in the Interest of Congressman Townsend.

Congressmen Hosea Townsend, of Colorado, is in the city visiting his brother-in-law, Mr. J. H. Bradner. Mr. Townsend was re-elected to Congress on the 4th inst. There were two Republican tickets in the field in Colorado for county offices and members of the legislature, but both factions were friendly to Mr. Townsend for Congress. One faction was run by the editor of the Denver Times and the other by the editor of the Denver Republican, both Republican papers. The evening before the election the Times came out with a letter claiming to be signed by Mr. Townsend, in which he agreed to back the Times as against the others. Great excitement prevailed in Denver and Mr. Townsend would doubtless have been defeated had the letter gone without denial.

The Congressmen resides at Silver Cliff, 190 miles from Denver and 30 miles from a railroad or telegraph office. A message must be sent to him and an answer returned in time for the next issue of the Denver Republican. It was 7 o'clock that evening before the operator at Cotapazi, a small station on the Denver and Rio Grande Railway, received his message from the Republican office. Mr. Townsend was as his home in Silver City, thirty miles away. It was a long way off, and the road was rough and up hill and down. The answer must be in by thirty minutes past 3 o'clock in the morning or it would be too late for publication.

The telegraph operator started out to find a messenger. After a number of men had refused to undertake the daring ride he at last secured a boy only 18 years old, who said he would carry the message to Townsend and bring back his answer within the time.

Darkness had already settled over the village when the youth, mounted on a good horse, went galloping through the streets on his midnight errand. He knew not the contents of the message he carried. He had simply been told that it was a matter of life and death, and on he rode, counting the miles and the hours, and only knowing that he was going on time. The package he carried had been securely sealed, but he had no interest whatever in the message except to see it safely delivered. He had been promised $25 for the trip.

West Cliff is situated two miles this side of Silver Cliff. Through the former town the messenger rode at a breakneck speed, and the inhabitents who had not retired for the night came out wondering what could be the matter. Not until the next morning did they know of the wild ride and its importance to Mr. Townsend.

The messenger reached Silver City at 11.30 o'clock and found Mr. Townsend at his home in bed. He quickly arose and dressed himself, and in a few minutes had read the message and penned his answer, denying the alleged letter published in the Denver Times,

The next work in hand was to secure a suitable horse to carry the messenger back to the telegraph station. The one he had ridden was thoroughly exhausted and could hardly have traveled another mile. An hour of valuable time was lost in finding a horse. Finally a teamster was found who gave up his broncho, and on the swift-footed animal the messenger started on the return trip at 12.30 o'clock. But two hours and forty minutes remained to reach Cotopaxi, and the boy left with the determination to reach the station on time or kill the horse. The return ride was mostly down hill, and again the messenger flew through West Cliff, waking the people from their sleep. The last eight miles of the road lies in a steep gulch. Down this the broncho went at full gait, and the boy knew he would be on time.

At ten minutes after 3 o'clock inquiries came from the Republican office for news of the messenger. The operator all the time had kept up a lonely watch waiting for the messenger's return. He answered back that all was quiet and nothing to tell of the messenger's progress. Another minute passed, and the instrument clicked back the answer that there was nothing new. The minutes were counted off, and each time the same report was wired back. The hands on the clock pointed to 3.15, and the operator said, "I hear him coming." It was true, and the suspense was over, and Representative Townsend's denial of the forgery was given to the people next morning before the votes were cast that have returned him to Congress for another term.

PURIFY THE BLOOD WITH Brown's Sarsaparilla

The mortality in large cities is due to the fact that bad food, bad air, and bad habits have made bad blood. From the largest bone down to the smallest hair, the whole body is fed, supplied with new material, kept alive and healthy by the flow of blood. In fact it is the most important part of the system.

Indeed, it is claimed there can be no disease, save an occasional brain trouble, when the blood is pure and flowing free.

Brown's Sarsaparilla purifies and enriches the blood and invigorates the entire system

Cross Creek, Washington Co., Pa.

Alfred C. Stephenson, writes, "I think Brown's Sarsaparilla can not be equalled as a blood purifier.

Anna B. Crook of Stoneboro, Mercer Co., Pa., says, "I have used Brown's Sarsaparilla, and find it a great blood purifier.

They use it to pick their teeth, button shoes, clean finger nails, punch bedbugs out of cracks, fasten up stray bangs, clean out their husband's pipe, scratch their head, run it into cakes to see if they are done, and about a million other things that the poor deluded men know nothing about.

—There is such a thing as being too strict in interpreting a law. The postmaster who recently excluded papers containing announcements of matrimonial engagements, on the ground that marriage is a lottery, carried the thing to an unwarranted extreme. He was like the young lady who was so modest that she put pants on the legs of her piano. So, sensibly, says the Oil City Blizzard.

HIGH RENTS IN BELLEFONTE.

The Way the Landlords Talk—Mine Not Too High But My Neighbors Is.

The article in Monday's DAILY NEWS on "High Taxes, High Rents, etc.," attracted considerable attention and received great criticism. The renter stood by and applauded because the NEWS was the first paper that has ever had the backbone to show up the wrongs where they exist, independent of party and prejudice. The landlords, however, don't know just exactly what to do and so, in lieu of anything better, they are all trying to hide behind their neighbor, as it was.

For instance: The downtown landlord will say "of course; I always knew rents were too high in Bellefonte, and I always said so. But my property don't pay me five per cent. Now there is Mr. So and So's property up town, it pays him 33⅓ per cent. on every dollar invested. And there is this man's and that man's, the're all to high and I can't see how they get so much for I can't do it. And all the time the very man is receiving not less than a 20 per cent. rental. Go to the uptown man and he will say the same thing about the downtown man. Go where you will and the landlords are all alike.

But now let us look at the renter. There are stores in Bellefonte, indeed very few are paying less, that pay from $480 to $650 per year for a room about 20x60 with no upstairs and a very poor cellar. From $48 to $55 per month. At 20 per cent. profit on all sales this means a cash business of almost one hundred dollars per week just to pay the room rent. But why do men pay such rents may be asked. Because they can't help it can be answered. All the rents are high, and for the very little difference it wouldn't pay to move a store from one room to another.

But aside from business places the house rents are enormous. Very few houses can be rented for less than $8 per month. Any rented for less are worth nothing. Now just look at it. Take wages at $1,25 per day. With full time a man can make but $7 50 a week. $2 off that for rent and he has $5.50 on which to keep his family. What a magnificient sum? No wonder so many people die with the gout. With such an amount at their disposal the laboring people live to fast. But then everybody knows a man can't average more than five days a week, especially if his work is out of doors. This would leave a man $4.25, after his rent was paid, on which to keep his family one week. Buy them dresses, shoes and stockings, all manner of clothing, pay his grocery bill, his meat bill, his milk bill, his butter and egg bill, etc., etc. Of this class there are fewer who die of the gout. And so it is from the man that makes from $7.50 a week to the man that makes $20 per week fully one third of it goes for house rent.

Now how is all this to be helped? Let men of means step to the front build houses and let them for a fair rental. Charge only a reasonable per cent. on the capital invested and he will not only make money but will be one of the greatest public benefactors of Bellefonte. Same way if some men could build a new business block. It would bring more business here and liven old Bellefonte up in a way she has not been for some time. Try it once.

They Say.

That the Institue next week promises to be a great succes.

That to the editor money is close, but not quite close enough to reach.

The skating and coasting have taken the place of the bicycle and the boat.

That while the mercury is dancing at 60 the entertainment business is up to fever heat.

That the many applicants for liquor license in Centre county are getting anxious.

That this season everything from a penny to a piano will be an appropriate Christmas present.

The men's trousers are gradually getting back to the 'snug' straight cut again, while women's hats are getting bigger.

That a rich man died in Ohio. His last dying request was: "Put fifty thousand dollars in my casket as I do not know what I'll meet." He no doubt was a politician and expected to buy the 'devil' off.

That a young member of the Bar is somewhat worried over a little legal question purely personal. He was smoking recently in the presence of an amiable young lady and began blowing rings. She slipped her finger through one and now considers herself engaged.

A Check fo $1,000.

This morning Mr. W. H. Musser, the the general agent for the Union Central Life Insurance Company of Cincinnatti, showed us a check for $1,000 drawn by his company in favor of Rebecca J. Tipton, mother of William F. Tipton, deceased. Mr. Musser received the check on Wednesday and intends taking it to Howard to-day to deliver to the proper parties. Mr. M. is doing a good business in this county. We might also add that he has an unequalled good company to work for.

Fabio Romani

Aiden Benedict's "Fabio Romani" company appeared at the opera house on Wednesday evening, where they were greeted by a small audience. The play was a very tragical one—too much so for a Bellefonte audience. The acting was rather above the average while the scenery was fine.

Not Near So Bad.

Mr. J. S. Clarkson, of Huntingdon county, better known as "Jason," the versatile newspaper correspondent of our neighbor county, in a little digression or discussion on "The Jug," in the Tyrone Herald of Thursday thus alludes to Bellefonte: "In Bellefonte during the past 14 years there have been 14 murders, every one of which is traceable to strong drink, and within the past 18 months there have been five liquor murders in Centre county. This is a fearful record for one part of our judicial district."

Now it cannot be denied that Centre county has been rather unfortunate during the past few years in the number of murders that have been committed within her borders, but as for Bellefonte, we beg to say that only one murder has been committed here. And we further say that the statement of "14 murders in 14 years" is a gross exaggeration. There has not been since the formation of the county, that many murders committed in Bellefonte, and what few have taken place have all been within the last two years. That they are all more or less traceable to the "jug" we will admit is only too true.

At the Institute Next Week.

'The Lecture, 'Realistic Rambles in Europe,' by Prof. A. M. Hammers, of Indiana, was the finest illustrated lecture ever delivered before a Teachers' Institute of Cambria County. The lecture was illuminated by the oxy-hydrogen light, and the views were well selected and produced. The lecturer is an exact and graceful speaker. He held the large and intelligent audience for over an hour and a half, rapidly passing from one view to another, tiring no one and pleasing everybody. His choice of the most noted places and scenery throughout Europe was faultless, and the lecture was replete with interest from beginning to end. Prof. Hammers' series of lectures will, no doubt, find a permanent place in the lecture courses belonging to Teachers' Institutes throughout the State, for which they are eminently adapted."

A Good Square Meal.

Just as the DAILY NEWS predicted, the turkey dinner and chicken, oyster and baked bean supper, given by the ladies of the W. C. T. U, on Thursday evening in the Bush Arcade, was one of the finest that has been served in Bellefonte for some time. The turkey was done very well—tender and juicy—it made one hungry even after he was full to the chin. And the "fixin's," well, now there were just lots of them and all of the most delicious kind. "But fairer far than all besides" were the pretty and vivacious young ladies who fluttered around the various tables in the capacity of waiters. All in all it was a feast fit for a Queen. Those that missed it lost a good meal.

The Sly Old Fox.

Master Eddie Haupt, son of Mr. Isaac Haupt, has shot and killed two red foxes within the past week. Eddie is yet a young lad but he handles the gun with the care and precision of an old sport. Speaking of foxes, that sly, cunning animal seems to be rather plenty this year judging from the number of fox scalps presented at the office of the County Commissioners for the payment of the regulation bounty. About twenty-five per cent. of the orders drawn nowdays are for premiums on fox scalps.

—From all the lumber jobs word comes that log sliding is progressing favorably, the weather for the past week having been cold enough to put the slides in good condition. The square timber makers are getting their stock in shape to rush it in as soon as the roads are in condition. The outlook is favorable, and the prospects are good for getting in all the log, timber and bark. Of the latter there is a considerable quantity left in the woods last spring, owing to the scarcity of snow last season.

—A musical convention will be held in the Evangelical church at Rebersburg, under the direction of that popular and efficient instructor, P. H. Meyer, of Boalsburg, beginning Monday evening, December 29th, and closing with two grand concerts, Friday and Saturday evenings following, Miss Arnie M. Keller, of Centre Hall, will preside at the piano, furnished by M. C. Gephart, Millheim's music dealer. Posters announcing further particulars will be put up this week.

—There is now great despondency among the employees of the Centre Iron company. Not only are they out of employment, but they got no pay for their last month's work and then the great uncertainty of when they may again start up, is good reason for feeling despondent. Some thinks the works may start up some time next month but the chance of their doing so is not very great. It is really too bad that such a valuable plant should lay idle.

—Several fairy female visitors brightened the usual dreariness of the News editorial den on Thursday.

HIGH SCHOOL EXERCISES.

A Programme that Proved a Veritable Literary Treat.

The exercises at the High School began promptly at 2.30. Prof. G W Johnstonbaugh announced that, owing to unavoidable circumstances which prevented Mrs. Bonbright from being present, there would be a slight change in the programme of exercises from that published in the DAILY NEWS, and hence the programme of exercises, as rendered, was as follows:

Music—piano solo, Miss Mary Schofield.

Invocation—Rev. W A Houck.

Music—piano solo, Miss Lida Gregg.

Oration—"The necessity of being able to say No," by Miss Edith Austin. Miss Edith's production showed considerable study in its preparation and the way that young lady spoke it brought forth great applause.

Oration—"The last of the Seal fisheries," Kline Woodring.

Oration—"On the Threshold," Miss Jennie Twitmire. The above paper was well prepared and interesting and very creditably delivered.

Music—vocal duet—"Over the fields of clover," Misses Bella Twitmire and Miss Sadie Bayard, with Miss Lukenbach at the piano. A very entrancing song and rendered in fine style by the above two young ladies.

Oration—"Is labor a blessing or a curse?" by Miss Rosa Levy. If some of the boys of Bellefonte, and girls, too, for that matter, had been present and given good heed to what Miss Levy said they could not otherwise than have been convinced that labor is enobling; that there is nothing low or degrading in carrying a bucket of water or a hod of coal. Miss Levy had one of the best prepared papers of the entire program.

Oration—"Character," by Charles Garner.

Oration—"The maid of Orleans," by George Brandon, Jr.

The exercises of the afternoon closed with a piano solo by Miss Mary Schofield. Miss Schofield is a proficient and pleasing player and her renditions on the piano were much enjoyed by those present.

After the program was exhausted Prof. Johnstonbaugh called on D F Fortney, Esq., for an adpress. The speaker spoke well of the good attendance in the High school thus far this season, which attendance has averaged about 97 per. cent. Mr. Fortney highly complimented Rev. Houck for always visiting the public school room and further condemned all ministers who ignored the public schools. All the students were advised to attend the Teachers' Institute next week.

J. C. Meyer, Esq., was called upon for an address. This was a part of the programme that Prof. Johnstonbaugh didn't seem to know much about. After a very short but fitting address Mr. Meyer called Prof. Johnstonbaugh forward and presented to him a very large lamp. To Prof. Lieb was presented a beautifully illustrated History of Palestine, also one of England. To Prof Wolf was presented a beautiful leather portfolio. All the Professors received their presents with warmest expressions of thanks. After another piano solo by Miss Lydia Gregg, the school was dismissed for the Holiday vacation to open again on January 5.

Quite a large number of visitors were present among whom were Rev. Houck, John P. Harris, D. F. Fortney, J. C. Meyer and many whose names have been forgotten.

Ex-Governor Curtin arrived in Bellefonte in a special car attached to the late train on Thursday evening. The governor has just returned from New York and Philadelphia, in the latter place he having been sick for some time. The old 'War governor' looks as if he is good for a number of years yet, not-withstanding his advanced age.

—If the house owners of the town want to continue the enjoyment of the large rents they now demand for their properties they should interest themselves in securing new industries that will bring more tenants to the city Many new houses have been built within the past few years, and the industries of the city have not increased in that time. If there is not a boom rents must take a tumble, and even then many vacant houses will be found. Why won't our real estate owners understand the situation?—Philipsburg Journal. This is easily applicable to Bellefonte.

St. Jacobs Oil Cures PROMPTLY AND PERFECTLY

BRUISES, SWELLINGS, CUTS, &c.

A bruise is a contusion; swellings are inflammations; cuts and wounds are alike disturbances to natural action, through which the veins are clogged, circulation impeded, congestion sets in and pains ensue. Nature is impatient—it tries to right itself and pain intensifies. Bruises and swellings need a soothing influence, but in cuts and wounds hardly any one would pour a liquid remedy into a gaping wound So soon as nature brings the parts together, almost at once, St Jacobs Oil soothes clears away obstructions, heals the injured tissues and restores. Used according to directions, it helps nature and cures

PROMPTLY AND PERMANENTLY.

Mr. Louis Rush, 49 Preston Street, Detroit, Mich., says: "Pitching ball I sprained and bruised my arm; two applications of St. Jacobs Oil cured me."

Mr. Gustav Nauwald, Jr. (Tivydale), Fredericksburg, Texas, writes, August 20, 1888: "I was badly cut with a scythe; half bottle St. Jacobs Oil cured me." It CURES.

AT DRUGGISTS AND DEALERS.

THE CHARLES A. VOGELER CO., Baltimore, Md.

Citizen—So you think of locating here? Physician—Yes. I thought some of practicing among you.

Citizen—See here, young man, there's a good opening here for a man as understands his biz, but we don't want no practicing, or experimenting—doctoring's what we want!

Many times women call on their family physicians, suffering, as they imagine, one from dyspepsia, another from heart disease, another from liver or kidney disease, another from nervous exhaustion or prostration, another with pain here or there, and in this way they all present, alike to themselves and their easy-going and indifferent or overbusy doctor, separate and distinct diseases, for which he prescribes his pills and potions, assuming them to be such, when, in reality, they are all only symptoms caused by some womb disorder. The physician, ignorant of the cause of suffering, encourages his "practice" until large bills are made. The suffering patient gets no better, but probably worse by reason of the delay, wrong treatment and consequent complications. A proper medicine, like Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription directed to the cause would have entirely removed the disease, thereby dispelling all those distressing symptoms, and instituting comfort instead of prolonged misery.

It's the only medicine for the weaknesses, irregularties and painful derangements peculiar to women, sold by druggists, under a positive guarantee that it will give satisfaction in every case, or price ($1.00) paid for it will be promptly refunded.

Dr. Pierce's Pellets regulate and cleanse the liver, stomach and bowels. One a dose. Sold by druggists. 25 cents a vial.

is one that promotes digestion, improves the appetite, cleanses the liver, purifies the blood, and stimulates brain and nerves without injurious reaction, and one that may be taken alike by adult or infant. Profane compounds, made of vile rum or bad whiskey, sweetened and flavored, under the titles of bitters, tonics, &c, produce effects far worse than the disease for which they are taken.

Vinegar Bitters is a pure tonic, a nervine without being narcotic, a purifier without poison, a liver tonic without purging, and above all, a life-giving stimulant without alcohol. The only medicine with such powers in the world.

Local Department.

—"Old Jonathan Coburg."

—Only a week till Christmas.

—Sunday was a spring-like day.

—This is nice weather for the Teachers' Institute.

—You can always get the news by reading the DAILY NEWS.

Mr. J. W. Gephart was summoned to Harrisburg on Monday afternoon.

—Have you noticed the clock in the new tower on the Academy building?

—Most of the new material with which to furnish the new arc light has arrived:

—All the teachers want to see "Old Jonathan Coburg," in the opera house to-night.

—Superintendent D O Etters made a trip to Lemont on Saturday to organize a local institute at that place.

—Ex-deputy Sheriff Mr. Will Dukeman, will, it is said, be deputy under Recorder W. Gaylor Morrison.

—The deer season ended on Monday, Sportsmen, however, can shoot rabbits, quail, etc., till January 1, 1891.

—"Yankee" Moore, in "Old Jonathan Coburg," is just as comic as he is comic looking on the lithographs now embellishing the bill boards

—Quite a number of persons took advantage of the recent cold snap to fill their ice houses with some clear-as-a-crystal-five-inches-thick ice.

—We are sorry to hear that Mr. Geo. B Weaver is confined to the house ill from the effects of a cold contracted several weeks ago.

—When a girl is in love she thinks there is no young man like her young man, and the young man; well, he generally agrees with her.

—Most men would have a poor opinion of themselves if they could remember the first six months of their lives.

—When pay day comes around it's the man that seeks the office not the office looking for the man.

—A man who goes to find the North pole is not satisfied until he fails to come back, and then his friends are none the wiser.

—It was perfectly outrageous the noise and fuss that was kept up during the lecture of Dr. E, E. White, on Monday evening. One policeman was nowhere, and the noise was not all made by Bellefonters, either.

—"Laugh and grow fat," is an old and wise proverb. Realize it by attending the funniest performance of the year—"Old Johnathan Coburg," at Garman's opera house Thursday evening, December 18th.

—To the credit of Register John Rupp be it said that he always refuses to accept the regulation fee for certifying to the applications for pensions from all old soldiers or their widows. "They need it worse than him," is what he always says.

—D. S. Keller, Esq., bought in the marble yard of Heisler and Gross that was sold at Sheriff's sale on Saturday. Consideration $520. Mr. Philip Haag purchased the millinery store of J. P. Strehle for $1103. The store will be continued with Mr. Strehle as agent

—Nothing of great importance was done at council meeting Monday night excepting the signing of the new contract with the Electric Light company for the new arc light which will be up and ready for use in the beginning of January.

—Operator Boyd H. Stonerod, of Milesburg was a very happy man yesterday. The cause of his joy was a bouncing baby boy at his residence. Boyd is receiving the congratulations of friends and is putting in his spare time practicing a lullaby.

—The Tyrone Herald says: "Yankee Moore appeared in the opera house on Saturday evening in 'Old Jonathan Coburg.' Yankee Moore and Miss Vivian, the leading characters, are very good." This same company will appear in Garman's opera house on this Thursday evening, December 18th. See them.

—On Wednesday the employees of the Centre Iron Company were paid one half of the wages they have coming them, or $6,500. Col, J. L. Spangler has the handling of the money. This will be cause for rejoicing among the people who worked there but a greater blessing would be the starting of the works.

—It seems that a misunderstanding prevails as to the price of tickets for the Ariel-Thomas Concert company. A very clear statement of the matter was given in Monday's DAILY NEWS. The admission for Tuesday evening was given as 50 cents, Wednesday evening 25 cents, and Thursday evening 25 cents; or course tickets for the three evenings for 75 cents.

—If you want a good Christmas trade you must advertise in the DAILY NEWS. Those who have tried it say it pays.

—Young husbands often get their days' work done by 5 or 6 o'clock, but older ones have to work so much harder that they cannot get home before 10 o'clock at night.

—Mr. Al Graham, the lumberman, was in Bellefonte on Monday. He had just returned from Clearfield county where he was assisting in the search for his brother, Newton Graham, who was lost on the mountain while hunting two weeks ago. No trace of the missing man was found and it is feared that he was either shot or hurt seriously and now lies dead under eighteen inches of snow.

—Oh, the snow! Isn't it beautiful? It commenced to fall Tuesday evening early and continued coming down all night and all of to-day and now there is upwards of a foot of it. If it only don't get warm again it will make good sleigbing and then the merry bells will jingle, jingle, and happy lovers can spend the long evenings together both tucked under the same Buffalo robe in a ten by fifteen sleigh while prancing steed draw them swiftly to and fro through the valleys.

—A consignment of Dr. Koch's cure for consumption has arrived in New York to be used, experimentally in the University in that place. Dr. Curtin has charge of the University and it is announced, on good authority, that through him some of the "cure" will shortly arrive in Bellefonte, It is a heavy liquid which, for use, must be diluted with 100 times its quantity of water. It is administered by injection with a needle syringe, Who will be the first person in Centre county to try Dr. Koch's cure for consumption?

—The entertainment in the Court house on Tuesday evening, given by the Ariel Thomas Concert company was all that could be desired. The Ariel quartette are four of as fine singers as ever appeared in Bellefonte and the rendition of the old songs, "Annie Laurie" "Old Folks at Home," and the whistling song were especially fine. Mr. Thomas, the famous comedian, has lost none of his fascination as a public entertainer and, it might be added, has learned two new comic sets for his face since he appeared here with Emerson's Boston Stars last year. He, as well as the quartette, was encored after each song or recital and it sometimes seemed as if the pedagogues couldn't get enough of them. The house was crowded and Supt. Etters is to be congratulated on the standard of the entertainment he is is giving the teachers and the public.

A Recorder's Record.

Mr. John Harter's term as Recorder has almost expired. His has been the first republican recorder's administration for many years, and, it might be added truthfully and without any fear of contradiction, that no official can show a better record in that office than can Mr. Harter. He can leave the office with a full consciousness of having faithfully and uprightly performed his duty, both as a public trust and personally between man and man. During his official term Mr. Harter, up to the present time, has recorded about 3570 taxable documents, which includes deeds, mortgages, judgments and releases. In addition there was recorded a large number of miscellaneous documents on which there is no State tax collectable and of which there was no exact account kept. On each of the above named legal documents a tax of 50 cents must be paid to the State. Thus it will be seen that Mr. Harter, during his term of office, has paid into the State treasury the sum of $1,785 as State tax from his office. Many persons think there is no work in the recorder's office but if they take time to calculate they will think different.

Will be Here This Week.

On Tuesday Mr. W. T. Hillibish received a letter from the Sillsbury Manufacturing Company, New York, which letter was dated the 13th, and in which the company said that, if they could get a car, the fire steamer for Bellefonte would be shipped that day—last Saturday. If not that day just as soon as a car could be had, so that there is every probability that the fire steamer will arrive in Bellefonte some time this week.

The Teachers' Institute.

From Monday's Daily News.

This is the first day of the Teachers' Institute. Altogether there are between 250 and 260 teachers in Centre county. The greatest number of these came to Bellefonte on the morning trains; the most of the balance will come in this evening and when Institute opens tomorrow morning there will be very few absentees at the call of the roll, Ten years ago the Teachers' Institute was a form of what it is to-day. It was then regarded more as a punishment than a delight. Now, with the elegant corps of instructors always engaged, pride in the local participation and the attraction of the evening entertainments the Institute is always looked forward to by all teachers as a week of pleasant instruction, entertainment and recreation Years ago what teachers attended the yearly institutes attended solely for the purpose of having a good time and lots of fun; and they didn't always seek it in the court house: Now there is a feeling of interest in this yearly gathering. Of course, it wouldn't be truthful to state that the teachers don't expect to have a good time and lots of fun, for they do; but they don't intend to allow that to interfere with their attendance at nearly all if not every session of the institute. All the pupils of the Bellefonte High School could not better spend the time this week than by going regularly to the court house and listening attentively to everything that is said and done. It will be a great help to them. How many will take advantage of the opportunity?

From Tuesday's Daily News.

The Centre county Teachers' Institute opened on Monday afternoon with a large per cent. of the teachers present Col. J. L. Spangler made the address of welcome, in which he welcomed the teachers on behalf of the merchants, the bankers, the photographers and everybody, including himself, and then wound up by inviting them all around to the home of of Supt. Etters for supper. Dr. E. E. White, of Cincinnatti, took up most of the afternoon in a talk on the government of public schools. He advised a more general method of love-ruling and to dispense with the rod. Evidently the doctor never taught the Coburn school or some of the schools in Bald Eagle or else he would have reversed his advice.

In the evening Dr. White lectured on the "Formation of Character." The discourse was even grand in its truthful and eloquent in description. The speaker told how a man's eye, his face, his countenance was an index of the true character. The court house was crowded at the evening session and all present enjoyed to the utmost the Doctors' talk.

From Wednesdays Daily News.

At the opening of the Teacher's Institute on Tuesday morning Dr. White gave a very interesting talk on "The Ladder of Success." The doctor's ladder had seven rounds to it and each one was graphically and interestingly described.

Mrs. Eastman, of the Cortland (N. Y.) normal, gave a talk on "How to Teach Reading to Beginners."

This was followed by Dr. Lytle on Psycology, which closed the exercizes for the forenoon.

In the afternoon, after the regular opening exercises, Prof. G. G. Pond, of State College, gave an interesting illustrated lecture on "Gas." He described the various atmospherical gases to perfection.

Dr. Lytle then gave his final talk on "The Child," after which he departed for Clearfield and Dr. White closed the afternoon exercises with another of his interesting talks.

Unionville Items.

The sleighing is worn out here but is yet good near the Allegheny mountains.

The ice on still water is a good thickness for storage.

The feather renovator, Mr. Patterson and his men, have gone to Johnstown, having completed their work in this place.

Benjamin Comley and family have moved to Central City.

The air is full of prospects and plans for the erection of a large paper mill in this place. Now if some outside parties will come forward with some money to put with what is offered by parties here, and a little practical experience in the business, the success of the enterprise will be assured. The mountain slopes and hill tops of this region still grow abundance of wood suitable for the manufacturing of paper.

Samuel Brugger is superintending the laying out of a railroad in Western Pennsylvania.

J. Cleaver is now engaged in surveying and laying off lands in Centre and Blair counties for the Safe Deposit Company of Pittsburg, trustee. J.

Instruction and Amusement.

This week, the occasion of the Teacher's Institute in this place, will be a week in which Bellefonters will not lack for entertainment. There will be two sessions of Institute held each day. These are public and attended by whomsoever will. And then every evening there will be an entertainment of some kind. On Monday evening Dr. E. E. White lectured on 'Character.'

This evening Dr. Hammers will give his illustrated lecture "From Paris to Pompeii.' The price of admission to each of the three last entertainments will be but 25 cents each; course tickets 75 cents. Tickets now on sale at Stitzer's and Bush's book stores.

OLD JONATHAN COBURG.

Aside from the institute entertainments there will appear in Garman's opera house this Thursday evening, the 18th, "Yankee" Moore's Comedy Company, in the side-splitting play entitled "Old Jonathan Coburg." The Cohoes Daily News thus refers to this company:

"The production of "Old Jonathan Coburg" by the Moore & Vivian company, at the opera house last evening, was very creditable, and was well received by the audience. The play is replete with startling and highly ridiculous situations which are admirably presented by Mr. Moore and Miss Vivian. The company is well balanced and strong One of the features is the excellent orchestra carried by the company. Mr. Powers, the cornet soloist, rendered his selection in a very artistic manner last evening. We predict a hearty welcome for them on their return.

Not Able to Walk.

I was confined to my bed for six months with Rheumatism, not able to walk a step. All of the remedies usually prescribed for this disease having been employed to no effect. I commenced taking S. S. S. I have now taken 11 bottles of this excellent medicine and am on my feet, attending to all my house work as of yore. I feel that I cannot sufficiently express my thanks for the benefit I have received from the use of this medicine.

Gold Lined and Silver Mounted.

Col. Spangler's house is now almost completed. On Saturday the silver mounting was put on all the corners of the cornice, the porch, the roof, and the folderol around below the roof. It was afterward thought best, as a protection from the weather, to paint the silver red, which was done. This, we think, was a mistake. Mr. Spangler was once heard to say that all his chimneys were lined with gold and if such be the case, what would be more appropriate than to have the building silver-mounted? But who would have thought six months ago that that old barn of a house could be made so beautiful?

He Owns Snow Shoe.

From the Philadelphia Times:

James Marsteller returned to Snow Shoe, Centre county, last Saturday, after a somewhat protracted stay this way. Mr. Marsteller is superintendent of the Lehigh Valley Coal Company's interests in and about Snow Shoe, the remaining portion of the town being owned by Congressman Hopkins, of Lock Haven. The Lehigh company owns 35,000 acres of coal land, pays out $15,000 a month at Snow Shoe, mines 500 tons of soft coal daily, and ships twenty cars of coke per diem. The business is in its infancy.

JURORS FOR THE COMING YEAR.

They Ought to be Good if Occupation Counts—The January Court Jury.

As previously stated in this paper the Jury Commissioners completed their work of filling the jury wheel for 1891 on last Friday. It took them eight days to do the work, and naturally it ought to be well done. And it is, too, from one standpoint. But from a general view it is a very partial selection of men who most all are either personal friends or party favorites; and the general selection has been from among the profession and farmers—very few laboring men being on the list. Out of Bellefonte almost every banker has been put in the wheel with the exceptions of General Hastings, and he was probably left out because he would be hard to find when wanted. Merchants, clerks and teachers, as well as agents of all description have been put in without limit. The only redeeming feature about the whole thing is that about two-thirds of the list are all new names. The other third are old residenters—some of whom have been in continuously for the past six years, Following is the jury drawn for the January term of court:

In pursuance of the usual custom the Pennsylvania Railroad company announces that Christmas and New Year excursion tickets will be sold between all principal stations on its system at two cents a mile, except between Philadelphia and New York and certain other stations on the United Railroads of New Jersey Division, where the regular excursion rate and limit will prevail. The tickets will be sold December 24th, 1890 to January 1st, 1891, valid for return passage until January 5th, 1891, inclusive.

—The effects of the recent democratic victory are apparent in more than one way. The poor overseer of Bellefonte informs us that applications for assistance have been almost double the past month what they were formerly, or what they were for the corresponding month one year ago.

He Was a "Keen" One.

On last Thursday Deputy Sheriff Wilson went to Millheim to serve a writ of replevment on Henry Keen to get possession of some personal property claimed by Mr. Keen's daughter as property given her by her mother when she died. The girl had not been living at home for about five years but on Thursday went with Sheriff Wilson to claim and identify her property. A gentleman from Millheim also went along to Mr. Keen's house and, as it proved afterwards, it was well he did. When the party entered the house and the Sheriff made known his errand, Mr. Keen became very angry and denied that his daughter had any property there; he also ordered his daughter out of the house. Sheriff Wilson interfered and started for another room when Mr. Keen sprang at his daughter, choked her and pushed her back in the corner, and was just in the act of striking her when he was grabbed by the Sheriff. The daughter, when loosened from Mr. Keen was set upon by a Mrs. Hoffman, who is living with Keen, who shoved her back on the table when the man who went with the Sheriff sprang to the rescue. This was a little more than the Sheriff bargained for and so they all withdrew, leaving the Keens in possession of the field. On Friday Sheriff Cooke and four deputies went there and recovered the girl's property. But the sight of so many officers so frightened the woman Hoffman that she went into convulsions and it took two doctors to bring her around all right But this is not the end of it. Sheriff Wilson will probably have Keen arrested for resisting a public officer while Orvis, Bower & Orvis, the girls attorneys, will bring suit against Keen for assault on his daughter.

What Is It?

A stranger happened in Bellefonte on Tuesday and, having a couple of hours to spare, wended his way up High street and turning to the right was about to go south when he suddenly stopped. His eyes opened wider and wider and finally he spoke. "What is it?" he asked of a man standing in the doorway of F. P. Blair & Co.'s jewelry store.

"What is what?"

"Why, what show is that? Is it Barnum, or Forepaugh, or Cole, or who?"

"See here, my friend; you've been drinking, haven't you? I see no sign of a show. Where is it?"

The stranger pointed to the multitudinous array of long banners, and streamers, and sign-boards, and dodgers, and posters, and painted windows, etc., that adorn (?) the west side of Allegheny street and said, "there."

The Bellefonter laughed and then explained that by some strange freak of nature the Jews and the Gentiles got mixed up in that particular block and both started in to beat the other. It had now grown to be a hand-to-hand struggle for the ascendancy and it was hard to tell which would win. Judging by the display put out by all parties it was going to be a death-struggle and a survival of the fittest.

Now that's the way it is. So long as the borough authorities will allow such things to be done so long will our town be taken for a big circus tent, menagerie, or something of the kind. It should not be. It looks awful and is as bad as it looks, Tear down the unsightly banners and big streamers and let the pavement open, not have it look as if one was always traveling through the side shows at a large picnic.

Personal Penciltngs.

Miss Effie Hamilton, of Tyrone, is a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Aikens, on Allegheny street.

Senator P. G. Meek, Col. J. L. Spangler and Chief Burgess W. Reber were all in Philadelphia on Saturday and registered at the Lafayette. A New Yorker in looking over the register noticed the above then turned to a friend and said: 'That Bellefonte is the greatest place for big men I ever heard of. Every d——n man has a title and there's not a plain citizen in the place.'

"We gave you a good notice in our paper."

"Oh, did you? Well, don't do it again. I don't mind your saying our vegetables are delicious and the milk pure, but when you add that our butter speaks for itself we object."

Personal Liberty vs. Personal Slavery

We are all free American citizens, enjoying our personal liberty; but most of us are in physical slavery, suffering from scrofula, salt rheum or some other form of impure blood. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the great blood purifier which dissolves the bonds of disease, gives health and perfect physical liberty.
